COMPTON, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-one persons — many of them looking forward to a Disneyland visit — were killed Wednesday in a helicopter crash similar to one that took 23 lives in this area last May.

Among the passengers were a recently retired grandfather, his wife, daughter and 8-year-old granddaughter, the 14-year-old grandson of the airline's president and three Denver businessmen.

The Los Angeles Airways helicopter broke apart and crashed in flames in an empty section of playground on a flight from Los Angeles International Airport of Disneyland.

It was the second worst commercial helicopter disaster in the United States. The worst, the crash of another twin-turbine Sikorsky S61L copter owned by the Los Angeles firm, occurred at nearby Paramount in May, killing 23.

Kenneth Hahn, a Los Angeles County supervisor, demanded that the FBI be called in. Similarities between Wednesday's crash and the May disaster, he said, suggested "this could be a man-made accident as well as or instead of mechanical failure."

The company suspended all flights. Witnesses told Federal Aviation Administration investigators they saw a tail rotor fly off, as preceded the May tragedy.

FAA experts began gathering the strewn wreckage to see if a reason for the crash could be determined. Cause of the May 22 disaster still remains a mystery.

Aboard the craft that crashed Wednesday were a crew of three men and 18 passengers.

The dead included Christopher Belinn, 14, grandson of Clarence Belinn, president of the helicopter line; John P. Meehan, 63, his wife, Helen, 63, and their granddaughter Anne, 8, of San Rafael, Calif., and businessmen Kenneth J. Atwell, Wes Keldercamp, and L. E. Baker, 44, of Denver. Meehan retired two weeks ago as a San Francisco police captain. The crew was identified as Capt. Kenneth L. Waggoner, 33, of Costa Mesa, Calif., the pilot; Frederick Fracker of Redondo Beach, Calif., co-pilot; and James A. Black, Wilmington, Calif., flight attendant.

Witnesses said they heard a "thump, thump, thump" as the helicopter fell earthward. Others described a loud "popping noise" followed by a rapid plunge and an explosion on impact.

The helicopter took off at 10:25 a.m. and was due at the Disneyland heliport at 10:41 a.m. It slammed to earth 12 minutes after takeoff while 30 children played about 200 feet away. No one on the ground was injured.

In the May tragedy, the copter went down 11 minutes after takeoff in a Paramount dairy farm 2½ miles east of Wednesday's crash. It was en route from Disneyland to Los Angeles.

Just before the helicopter hit of Compton, Calif., he heard the pilot scream "hell-I... hell-I!" the ground, said Carl Shaw, 14. There was no other human sound from the craft, he said.

Steven Fuss of Hollywood, who was working nearby, said he saw the tail rotor fall off "as if it were sheared from the shaft."

"It then went straight out," said Fuss. "Then the copter rolled back end over end toward the tail, made two loops. Thirty seconds later it hit the ground."

Witnesses fought the spreading flames with small extinguishers as the fire streaked along the full length of the fuselage.

Jonathan Dollar, 48, said the pilot tried to the end to keep the copter airborne. "God bless that man," he said.

John Sears, 22, of Pico Rivera, said the craft "seemed to hesitate and its main rotor blade stopped for a second. Then it began a slow spin and turned all the way around once clockwise."

He said the tail section "was hanging by some cables or tubes and then it just broke off."

The National Transportation Safety Board, which investigates air disasters, sent a team from Washington and ordered recorded conversations between the pilot and the office impounded.

John Hilton, manager of the FAA area office in Los Angeles, said investigators theorize the may crash was caused by the failure of the automatic control system.

Such a malfunction could cause a sharp change in the "attitude" of the craft's flight and, when the pilot attempts to correct it, the rotor blades are thrown out of phase, he said.

This could cause a blade to snap off, slicing the rear rotor assembly, he said.

Raids Intensified to Blunt Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighters had been the lowest number in bombers attacked North Vietnam's southern panhandle with renewed fury Wednesday after a day in which tropical storm Rose prevented American aircraft carriers from launching a single mission.

With the three 7th Fleet carriers in the Tonkin Gulf back in action, American pilots flew 105 missions against supply lines in North Vietnam, more than triple the 31 missions flown Tuesday by land-based planes. That had been the lowest number in more than two years.

America's biggest bombers, the Air Force B52s, roared over North Vietnam today for the second time this week to attack troop concentrations, artillery and antiaircraft sites. Two flights of the eight-jet Stratofortresses, with at least three bombers in each wave, struck from just above the demilitarized zone to 5½ miles inside North Vietnam.

The B52s have concentrated recently on trying to blunt the expected third Viet Cong offensive against Saigon and other South Vietnamese cities.

In maneuvering connected with the peace talks in Paris, qualified sources said today the French government has firmly declined South Vietnamese feelers for a resumption of full diplomatic relations between Paris and Saigon.

Vietnamese sources said their government would like to raise its Paris consulate back to embassy level so as to be better prepared if the talks are enlarged to include a South Vietnamese delegation. The sources said the French government reacted to unofficial approaches by declaring that as host to the peace talks it must avoid disturbing the diplomatic status quo in any way that might affect the negotiations.

South Vietnam's military junta reduced diplomatic relations with France in June 1965, saying the French government showed a pro-Communist bias in the Vietnam war. President Charles de Gaulle has consistently denounced American involvement in Vietnam, a French colony until 1953, and called for neutralization of South Vietnam. For the second day in a row, no significant ground actions were reported in the war. But American reconnaissance pilots spotted a complex of deserted Viet Cong factories Wednesday, including munitions plants, in the Mekong Delta, 73 miles west-southwest of Saigon. U.S. helicopters landed South Vietnamese ground troops who searched the area.

U.S. headquarters said the complex included a metal melting shop, a chemical shop, a sheet metal shop, a booby trap plant and a blacksmith shop. Earlier, South Vietnamese troops had swept through the same general area after B52 bombers dumped thousands of pounds of explosives on suspected enemy positions.

U.S. headquarters said a ground observer credited the B52s with 29 secondary explosions in the area Tuesday morning, indicating direct hits on ammunition stores, and the following ground sweep disclosed that the bombing destroyed four fortifications, 48 sampans and 35 bunkers, and killed 18 enemy soldiers.

A U.S. spokesman said government troops sifting through the huge craters also uncovered more than 50 mortar rounds, 97 AK47 assault rifles, the standard Communist infantry weapon, 60 hand grenades and 87 mines.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced that the government troops killed 64 Viet Cong soldiers during the operation and suffered light casualties.

The number of enemy reported killed in the Vietnam war increased last week by nearly 200, while the total of Americans who died in action increased by two over the previous week. The number of South Vietnamese troops dropped markedly.

The weekly casualty report today again demonstrated the continuing lull in the war which has been going on since late June.

The U.S. Command said 173 Americans were killed in action last week, compared with 171 in the previous week. The number of U.S. wounded went down to 238 compared with 1,050 a week earlier. It was the lowest number of wounded since the last week of 1967, when there were 437. Of those wounded last week, 447 were hospitalized and 341 did not require hospitalization, the command announced.

A total of 26,634 Americans have been killed in action from Jan. 1, 1961, through Aug. 10, the weekly summary said, while 162,968 have been wounded. Of the latter, 87,916 required hospitalization.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands said 1,642 of the enemy were killed last week and as usual added that this figure was "subject to adjustment." In the previous week, 899 enemy had been reported killed but today that toll was raised to 1,461.

The U.S. Command said that enemy casualties from Jan. 1, 1961, through last week totaled at least 377,711 killed.

The Lull in Communist Attacks—U.S. Searches for an Answer

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — U.S. efforts to find out in some official way whether the lull in Communist attacks in South Vietnam is intended by North Vietnam as a peace gesture apparently have bogged down.

American officials at the Paris peace talks say that as far as they are concerned the question is still open. But they now put major emphasis on their contention that North Vietnam is preparing for an offensive by pouring troops and military supplies into the South at a high rate. "The disposition of the North Vietnamese forces indicates that major military attacks are in preparation," U.S. spokesman William J. Jordan told a news conference Wednesday after the weekly session of the talks.

"If North Vietnam wished to convey to us some meaning (about the purpose of the lull), they could do so readily, directly or indirectly, and so far we have had no indication whatsoever."

Jordan did not say whether U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman has ever asked Ambassador Xuan Thuy or his deputies whether the lull has significance. U.S. officials say the question has not been put directly in any of the formal sessions, but they decline to say whether it has been raised in private conversation with the North Vietnamese during the coffee breaks at the meetings.

Nguyen Thanh Le, the North Vietnamese spokesman, declined to be drawn into discussion of the issue. When he was asked whether it came up in the 22-minute coffee break Wednesday, he said he only had time to drink tea. To another query on the same subject, he said: "The United States continues to intensify the war in Vietnam."

Le at his news conference kept hammering at the point that "we are going to keep insisting" that the United States must stop bombing and "all other acts of war" against the territory of North Vietnam before anything else can be accomplished in the Paris talks.

He seemed intent on stressing that his government's stand on the bombing issue, including its refusal to promise a parallel scale-down of military action, is absolutely firm.

The 17th session of the talks, now in their fourth month, lasted four hours Wednesday, and the statements by both Harriman and Thuy followed a hard line. Each accused the other's government of intensifying the war while talking peace. Each said the talks had made no progress because the other side was unwilling to move realistically toward peace.

Western diplomats in Paris generally believe that Hanoi's leaders may be convinced that domestic political consideration will compel Johnson to call off the bombing without any concessions from North Vietnam.

What in the World!

Air Jam Easing

NEW YORK (AP)—Airport officials around the country generally report flight delays have been eased with the notable exception of some Chicago and New York flights to and from their cities.

The congestion which had been especially heavy at Kennedy Airport began to clear this week due to a combination of excellent weather, some flight rescheduling and an apparently let-up of a flight controllers' campaign.

Surcharge to Stay

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The temporary, 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes levied this year by Congress won't be temporary unless the Vietnam War ends, says the chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee.

In an interview with United Press International Wednesday, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., predicted all or part of the surcharge may be extended through fiscal 1970, which begins July 1, 1969, if the Vietnam War continues.

Cuban Plane Swiped

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (UPI)—Fourteen Cuban men, women and children apparently stole a large yellow Russian built biplane today and flew it to this south Florida airport seeking political asylum, federal officials said.

The plane touched down at 8:55 a.m. Mike Ervin, manager of the Homestead Aviation Service at the General Aviation Airport here, described the plane as "a big, yellow biplane. I've never seen anything like it before."

The six men, five women and three children were turned over to immigration authorities for questioning and processing. An immigration spokesman said the Cubans apparently stole the plane, took off from Cuba about 7 a.m. and flew it here.

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The president of the Rondout Central School District will call a special meeting of the board early next week to set another voting date on the extra-curricular option after petitions collected 1,466 signatures in favor of the measure.

The group, formed only last Friday, soared well past its goal of 1,200 signatures which were needed to bring the option on extra-curricular activities, previously defeated 778-639, to another vote.

The organization was headed by Burton Marshall of Accord who chaired a meeting Monday night in the High Falls Firehouse where 800 signatures were realized. The rest came swiftly as members of the group canvassed the town with their petitions.

The extra-curricular activities option petitioned for includes all sports, band, music programs, clubs, student government, field trips and school dances.

George Stockin, president of the Rondout Board of Education, told The Freeman today that he will call a special meeting of the board Monday or Tuesday to set a voting date on the $20,000 extra-curricular option.

Voting is expected to take place in the high school where the Board's original budget was defeated in May by a 1,251-749 vote and beaten again in June by a 989 to 763 vote.

Subsequently, the board adopted a $3,744,681 austerity budget and offered nine options for a vote Aug. 6. Eight of those options also were defeated, the sole survivor being the $36,700 transportation option which passed 845 to 583.

Dr. Ted T. Grenda, superintendent of schools, contacted by The Freeman, said he was "gratified" by the turnout for the petitions and hoped that all those that signed would also vote when the issue was put on the ballot.

Mrs. Burton Marshall said plans are already being made for a telephone campaign to alert residents of the vote when it is set.

Dr. Grenda was asked if he thought the idea of freezing teacher's salaries as a possible move toward economy was advisable. "If we freeze teacher's salaries we might as well forget about operating a school system," he replied.

Dr. Grenda said that Rondout teachers, were, in fact, paid below the norm of Ulster county teachers. Rondout starts their teachers at $6,450 per year while the average, according to Grenda, is $6,530 in the county.

"It's a simple fact of school administration," Grenda said, "that if you pay teachers a decent salary you will get good teachers and keep them."

Grenda pointed to the high turnover of teachers in the Rondout system in previous years before the system became competitive with other systems.

Voting on the extra-curricular option is expected to take place before Sept. 1 as the district's tax bills will be mailed out at that time.

Laws, Language Concern in Ward 10

By HUGH REYNOLDS

City Judge Hubert A. Richter addressed more than 50 members of the 10th Ward Committee last night at the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, discussing city laws and suggested a language course to make those laws clearer to some residents of the ward.

The group is headed by Alderman Peter Fisher and has a five-man advisory board that includes Thomas DeWitt and Everett Hodge of Franklin Street, Floyd Weeks of Prospect Street, Donald Griffin of Furnace Street and Mrs. Kurt Von Halle of Prospect Street, the secretary.

Another alderman was also present, Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow (D-First Ward). Under the apportionment the two wards have been combined to form the new Fourth Ward. Fisher and Mrs. Ludlow are candidates in this new ward and this prompted Mrs. Ludlow to state that ward organization such as Fisher's committee, should incorporate both wards and be called the Fourth Ward Committee.

Following Judge Richter's address, there was a general discussion of problems in the ward and what was being done to solve them.

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan's newest plans for city hall, which calls for two city halls, one on Broadway and one Downtown, were discussed at length with Fisher telling The Freeman that the group was in full support of Garrahan's idea, except for one dissenter. That person wanted the city hall to remain where it is.

Fisher told The Freeman today that he has received little response from officials on the various complaints of the residents that he has tried to have satisfied.

He mentioned the rat situation and said it has gotten worse in the past few weeks. Fisher said that Hodge had trapped five rats in his (Hodge's) backyard on Franklin Street.

Garbage Still Problem

Garbage remains a serious problem, according to Fisher, who says he has received little help from the city building department and the county board of health. Fisher said he may be forced to contact the state board of health in Albany.

Speaking of the language problem, Fisher noted that there were several Spanish-speaking families in the ward that had difficulty understanding English. Fisher said he will have leaflets printed in Spanish, at his own expense, explaining basic city laws and election laws and distribute them to those Spanish-speaking families.

Fisher was also asked to institute the removal of the Christmas tree on Broadway and Henry Street. The tree appears to be dead and some residents consider it a traffic hazard.

Another suggestion was made to level off the Fitzgerald property on Franklin Street, the buildings which were torn down by the city, and set up a parking lot for area residents.

Fisher meets with his advisory committee of the 10th Ward Committee once a week. They expect another public meeting in the middle of next month.

Nor Merger

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — The Endicott-Johnson Corp. and Studebaker-Worthington Inc. have scrapped plans for a possible merger.

R. H. Guthrie, chairman of Studebaker, and Eli G. White, president and chief executive officer of E-J, said Wednesday they had canceled plans for a share exchange that would have led to the exploration of merger possibilities.

Biafra Pledges Fight

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian troops advanced today on the temporary Biafran capital of Aba with both prongs of a pincer movement reported making progress toward the secessionist headquarters.

A high officer said a commando column led by Col. Benjamin Adekunle had crossed the Imo River 15 miles south of Aba and occupied Akwete, a settlement on the northern bank.

The lead column of the other pincer was believed across the river at the Imo railway station, 22 miles from the city.

The drive appeared aimed at bringing the 13-month-old secession of eastern Nigeria's Ibo tribesmen to a quick military end. But the Biafran leader, Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, has pledged that his people will retreat into the bush and wage guerrilla warfare.

An estimated 6,000 troops from Nigeria's 3rd Marine Division were reported committed to the attack on Aba. The city some 40 miles inland is the largest of the three major towns still in rebel hands.

Ojukwu's secessionist army now holds only about one third of the 29,000 square miles he proclaimed independent in May 1967.

In Addis Ababa, the deadlocked peace talks switched to discussion of relief supplies to starving war refugees. There was no indication of any progress in the session Wednesday night, but various sources voiced expectation of a break soon.

Laws, Language Concern in Ward 10

By HUGH REYNOLDS

City Judge Hubert A. Richter addressed more than 50 members of the 10th Ward Committee last night at the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, discussed city laws and suggested a language course to make those laws clearer to some residents of the ward.

The group is headed by Alderman Peter Fisher and has a five-man advisory board that includes Thomas DeWitt and Everett Hodge of Franklin Street, Floyd Weeks of Prospect Street, Donald Griffin of Furnace Street and Mrs. Kurt Von Halle of Prospect Street, the secretary.

Another alderman was also present, Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow (D-First Ward). Under re-apportionment the two wards have been combined to form the new Fourth Ward. Fisher and Mrs. Ludlow are candidates in this new ward and this prompted Mrs. Ludlow to state that ward organization such as Fisher's committee should incorporate both wards and be called the Fourth Ward Committee.

LBJ Bouncy, Ruddy, Rested

By FRANK CORMIER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Whatever doctors told President Johnson in their report on recent elaborate medical tests, it's causing him no apparent public concern.

Johnson, understood to have gotten the gist of the report in the last day or two, looked ruddy and rested and was in his bounciest form Wednesday when he made his first speechmaking appearance of the month.

At times he even sounded like the candidate for re-election he's vowed not to be.

Disclosure last week that Johnson is afflicted with a chronic intestinal ailment, diverticulosis, prompted some concern about the state of his health. Unease was not allayed when he went to San Antonio's
Brooke Army Medical Center Monday for further tests or when the White House firmly refused to rule out surgery as a possibility.

Diverticulosis is not disabling and Johnson's doctors hastened to emphasize he was suffering no discomfort. However, the ailment can develop into something more serious—when inflammation occurs—and in that form sometimes requires surgery.

In his speech to the 73rd annual convention of the mostly Negro National Medical Association, Johnson departed from his text frequently to plug the accomplishments of his administration.

He noted the high federal position— including cabinet secretary and Supreme Court justice
—he filled with Negro appointees.

"We have appointed more black judges than all of the other 53 presidents combined," he said.

Later, Johnson removed his reading glasses and received a warm response from the audience when he ad libbed "... as you emerge and make progress, as you open the sores and wounds to the sunlight and as the wind goes against them, the tender spots break out. Seeking freedom is not always a pleasant task."

"I hope we will make it so in this country that we don't have to violate laws and we don't have to be guilty of breaking the peace and we don't have to endanger health and life for us to get justice."

"Every law," he said, "ought to be fair and equal for everybody—from the president to the street sweeper and vice versa.
We are marching and moving in that direction."

Newest Red Mavericks Embrace, Romanian Backs Czech Policy

PRAGUE (UPI)—The newest mavericks in the Communist world embraced today. Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and his aides wished Czechoslovakian party leader
Alexander Dubcek success
"from the bottom of our hearts" in straying from the Kremlin line.

The Romanians came to sign a treaty of mutual cooperation and friendship and to discuss in private their drive for a more independent brand of Communism than Moscow favors.

Treaty Hailed

In unusually cold, windy weather at Prague airport,
Czechoslovak President Ludvik Svoboda welcomed the Romanians and hailed their treaty "which will reflect the changes that have come to Europe and the rest of the world."

Ceausescu, who led his nation away from Soviet domination last year and has supported the Czechoslovak move this year, proclaimed Romanian support for Dubcek's reform policy.

"It is our wish—and this is from the bottom of our hearts—that the new political activity in Czechoslovakia will be successful in building Communism," he said.

The weather cut the crowd size from below that which saluted a visit by Yugoslav supporters of the Czechoslovak police. But the line of Russian-made Chaika limousines carrying Dubcek, Ceausescu and the others into Prague from the airport got loud cheers under gray skies.

Besides Ceausescu, the Romanian delegation included such top Bucharest officials as Premier Gheorghe Maurer and Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu.

Ceausescu laid the groundwork for his visit with a speech in Bucharest in which he criticized the use of Warsaw Pact troops to intervene in the internal affairs of other nations, as was done in Czechoslovakia's case.

He also suggested that the Warsaw Pact "was not thought to be created for eternity."

The speech indicated that mutual misgivings about the Warsaw Pact will be a major topic on the agenda when Ceausescu and Dubcek settle down to serious talks.

There are powerful political elements in Czechoslovakia which feel the Warsaw Pact needs extensive revisions. The Ceausescu talks promised to revive the simmering controversy over the dismissal of Lt.
Gen. Vaclav Prchlik who spoke out against the pact's organization.

Another point expected to come up in the Ceausescu-Dubcek talks is economic cooperation. One major result of Tito's visit was agreement on extensive economic arrangements aimed at improving both nations standards of living.

Newest Red Mavericks Embrace, Romanian Backs Czech Policy

PRAGUE (UPI)—The newest mavericks in the Communist world embraced today. Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and his aides wished Czechoslovakian party leader Alexander Dubcek success "from the bottom of our hearts" in straying from the Kremlin line.

The Romanians came to sign a treaty of mutual cooperation and friendship and to discuss in private their drive for a more independent brand of Communism than Moscow favors.

Treaty Hailed

In unusually cold, windy weather at Prague airport, Czechoslovak President Ludvik Svoboda welcomed the Romanians and hailed their treaty "which will reflect the changes that have come to Europe and the rest of the world."

Ceausescu, who led his nation away from Soviet domination last year and has supported the Czechoslovak move this year, proclaimed Romanian support for Dubcek's reform policy.

"It is our wish—and this is from the bottom of our hearts—that the new political activity in Czechoslovakia will be successful in building Communism," he said.

The weather cut the crowd size from below that which saluted a visit by Yugoslav supporters of the Czechoslovak police. But the line of Russian-made Chaika limousines carrying Dubcek, Ceausescu and the others into Prague from the airport got loud cheers under gray skies.

Besides Ceausescu, the Romanian delegation included such top Bucharest officials as Premier Gheorghe Maurer and Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu.

Ceausescu laid the groundwork for his visit with a speech in Bucharest in which he criticized the use of Warsaw Pact troops to intervene in the internal affairs of other nations, as was done in Czechoslovakia's case.

He also suggested that the Warsaw Pact "was not thought to be created for eternity."

The speech indicated that mutual misgivings about the Warsaw Pact will be a major topic on the agenda when Ceausescu and Dubcek settle down to serious talks.

There are powerful political elements in Czechoslovakia which feel the Warsaw Pact needs extensive revisions. Ceausescu talks promised to revive the simmering controversy over the dismissal of Lt. Gen. Vaclav Prchlik who spoke out against the pact's organization.

Another point expected to come up in the Ceausescu-Dubcek talks is economic cooperation. One major result of Tito's visit was agreement on extensive economic arrangements aimed at improving both nations' standards of living.

Wallace No Conservative

As George Wallace gathers steam for his third party bid for President, gathering conservative votes from both major parties, the spokesmen for the Conservative Party disown him as one of them, and in fact warn that he is no conservative at all.

James L. Buckley, Conservative Party candidate for U.S. Senator from New York, was particularly outspoken about Wallace's credentials as a conservative. Asked if Wallace would be more to his personal liking than either Reagan or Nixon, Buckley answered, "Absolutely not. He is not a conservative. He seized on an issue which conservatives and nonconservatives ought to be stressing, namely the need for law and order in our streets, and he has gotten the support of a lot of frightened people."

Rather than being a conservative, Buckley called Wallace a Populist—"an old fashioned word, I know"— because, as Governor, "he never turned down aid from Washington except when it had some segregation strings attached."

The Populists became a strong third party from 1891 to 1908, and ran Presidential tickets from 1892 through 1908. Two issues it supported became law—direct election of United States Senators, and the graduated income tax.

"A vote for Wallace would be a protest vote, and the wrong kind of protest to register," Buckley said. "It would be interpreted after the fact as a racist vote, of course, it would not be, but nevertheless that is how it would appear and be described. And to the extent that people confuse Wallace with conservatism in this country, it would set back the conservative cause."

Buckley's concern is that Wallace's campaign will hurt the conservative cause and set the party back after his own and the effort of his brother, William, the editor who made a surprisingly good run for Mayor of New York in 1965, have raised the Conservative Party to third place ahead of the Liberal Party.

Heart Transplants

The cost of surgery for a heart transplant is getting low enough for an ordinary person to be able to afford it. It is coming down to the cost of open heart surgery in St. Luke's Hospital, Houston, the busiest transplant hospital in the world.

In the last 10 years, heart surgeons at St. Luke's have done more than 5,000 open heart operations. They got the price down to about $2,200 for a nine-day stay. That's about $244 a day, depending on individual cases.

With only nine heart transplants done at St. Luke's as this is written—the cost has gone down to $200 to $300 a day, if there are no complications to make a stay longer than eight to ten days.

Newell E. France, an administrator at St. Luke's, is so impressed with the skill and success of the heart surgeons doing the transplants, that he said, "We can legitimately ask insurance companies to reimburse us, now that Dr. Denton A. Cooley, head of the hospital's transplant team, has said that transplants are therapeutic and not experimental only."

FDR's Secret Romance Subject of a Book

Poor Food for Ghettoes

Almost one year ago, Nov. 16, 1967, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that "some chain stores have been loading their counters, particularly in the Negro ghettos, with food that has been rejected by the Defense Supply Agency for U.S. troops." They gave further details.

On Aug. 11, the House Government Operations Committee under Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N. Y., reported that grocery chains sometimes sell second-rate food in their ghetto stores.

WASHINGTON—Jonathan Daniels, son of Woodrow Wilson's Secretary of the Navy, has written another book, "Washington Quadrille," giving more details of the secret romance of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It's a fascinating account of Washington society in the days of the Wilson administration, when young FDR served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy under Jonathan's father, Josephus Daniels.

This time Jonathan, now editor of the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, has done painstaking research to document a romance which could have changed history. More important than the romance, he has also told the story of Eleanor Roosevelt, the ugly duckling who married her handsome cousin, FDR.

Daniels has dug up the dates of the gay yachting trips on the SS Sylph when the dashing young Assistant Secretary of the Navy took Lucy Mercer for weekend house parties down the Potomac. Eleanor Roosevelt was in Campobello, and Washington summers, especially during 1917, the first year the U.S. was fighting in World War I, were both lonesome and romantic.

Lucy Mercer, then 25, daughter of an aristocratic Maryland family, had become Eleanor's social secretary, later a Navy yeomanette. There are two versions as to why she and FDR never married. One version is that Lucy, a Catholic, was unwilling to marry a divorced man. The other version is that Eleanor was firm in reminding her husband that the White House as a divorced man. My own knowledge of the romance came from Elsie Cobb Wilson, who later married Gen. Louis Little of the Marine Corps.

Calm Mrs. Roosevelt
Elsie, a close friend of the Roosevelts, told how the romance came to a crisis when Eleanor came back from a summer of 1917 in Campobello, and driving through the Virginia countryside, passed her husband and Lucy in a parked car, in fond embrace.

Mrs. Roosevelt had an emotional showdown with her husband, while Elsie had a talk with Lucy Mercer, advising her to step out of Roosevelt's life altogether.

It is not quite clear, either from Jonathan Daniels' book or from my conversations with Mrs. Little, whether it was Eleanor's confrontation or Lucy's decision to bow out that finally broke up the romance.

However, there are at least three subsequent chapters. Elsie Little always blamed the Lucy Mercer incident for the fact that Roosevelt would not promote her husband to be commandant of the Marine Corps. Gen. Little, a brilliant officer, reached the No. 2 rank in the Marine Corps, but FDR never made him commander. According to Mrs. Little, he was irked over the part she had played in breaking up his romance.

Another chapter occurred during the closing days of World War II when Steve Early, Roosevelt's press secretary, told me that late one night he received a phone call from an editor in northern New Jersey telling him that the President's special train was on a siding near Allamuchy and he, the editor, wanted permission to publish the story.

In those war days, the whereabouts of the President was a military secret and could not be published without permission. Steve withheld permission. He said that he learned later that FDR, traveling north to New York, had ordered his train stopped near the home of Lucy Mercer, who had become Mrs. Winthrop Rutherford.

FDR's Death

The final chapter in FDR's secret romance is told poignantly by Daniels in describing the death of the President in April 1945. Mrs. Rutherford had gone to Warm Springs, taking along portrait painter Elizabeth Shoumatoff. He suffered a stroke while posing.

Mrs. Rutherford was spirited out of Warm Springs, and Bill Hassett, the President's secretary, deliberately omitted her name from the list of those who were with FDR when he was stricken. But Mrs. Roosevelt knew.

Daniels tells the story: "But Early blurted to him (Hassett): 'There's hell to pay, Bill. Mrs. Roosevelt knows that Lucy Rutherford was here.'"

"Even in the midst of the solemn obsequies there was on her heart a secret something she had to face," Daniels continues. "She made direct inquiries. Had Lucy Mercer come to the White House in the times she had been away? The truth could not be denied. Eleanor's resentment could not be dissembled. She announced that she was getting out of the White House immediately."

She packed in record time. Daniels goes on to tell of Mrs. Rutherford's own death, July 31, 1948. "The world little noticed," he reported. "The New York Times obituary gave much of its attention to her dead husband."

Mrs. Roosevelt outlived Lucy by many years, and Daniels concludes his book by telling of Mrs. R's busy life, especially her life on July 31, the day of Lucy's death. She had taken a trip to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where she dedicated a monument to her husband.

"The afternoon was growing late. The road she followed along the New Jersey-Pennsylvania line ran, as the twilight came on that afternoon, a little north of Allamuchy."

"There the word had come to prepare Lucy's place in the Rutherford family cemetery at Tranquility under the little mountains and not far from the pond where occasionally a blue heron stood as at Val-Kill. The big, old Rutherford house loomed, solid and heavy in the dark. It had given Lucy shelter. She had given it grace, affection, a warm heart and a blithe spirit. She was welcome to its earth. Her story was over as Mrs. Roosevelt on her lengthening journeys rode by, hurrying home—and to the world."

Nixon, HHH: Few Differences

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (NEA)—Despite the competitive rhetoric of the election campaign, American voters will have to use a microscope to discover major differences in foreign policy between Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, and his Democratic rival, Hubert Humphrey.

Both candidates, seasoned politicians, are hardly novices in the field of international relations. They are equally aware of the changes that have occurred in the Communist and non-Communist worlds in the last decade. Each is anxious, in his own way, to bring American policies in line with the realities of the existing situation.

Like Humphrey, Nixon has discarded his rigid hawkish position on Vietnam and has become at least a reluctant dove.

The GOP platform, which was tailored to help Nixon's candidacy, no longer calls for a clear-cut military victory in the Southeast Asian conflict. Instead of increased U.S.

military involvement, the platform even calls for "progressive de-Americanization" of the war in Vietnam.

Like Humphrey, Nixon does not exclude the possibility of direct U.S. negotiations with the Viet Cong. However, he insists that such negotiations must have the approval of the Saigon government and should not jeopardize South Vietnam's independence.

In this respect Nixon and Humphrey differ sharply with Sen. Eugene McCarthy who has been urging the Johnson administration to include the Viet Cong Communists in a coalition government with or without the consent of Saigon and without any prior conditions or agreements.

Both Nixon and Humphrey urge the South Vietnamese people to take more of the responsibility in the conduct of the war. However, they equally reject what Gen. Eisenhower called a "camouflaged surrender" of the legitimate American or Allied interests. Both refer vaguely to a "peace with honor."

To be sure, the Democratic candidate, like his party, would be more generous with foreign aid than his Republican rival.

If Nixon adheres to the letter of the GOP platform, "Nations hostile to this country will receive no assistance from the United States." Humphrey believes that foreign aid could serve as a useful instrument of American foreign policy even if extended to hostile nations under proper conditions.

But this, after all, is a minor difference which will have to be evaluated and re-examined in accordance with changing international events.

On vital questions like NATO or U.S. relations with Russia and Red China there is indeed little difference between the views of Humphrey and Nixon.

The two candidates have made it clear that they continue to regard West Europe and NATO as the key to American security. Whoever is elected president will seek to reorganize and strengthen NATO and use his influence for greater European unity, including the admission of Britain into the Common Market.

Neither Humphrey nor Nixon believes that the Communists, whether pro-Russian or pro-Chinese, have abandoned their Marxist-Leninist dream of "revolutionary wars of liberation."

But they agree that Russia's quarrel with Red China and the wave of reform in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere in East Europe has considerably weakened what was once feared as an unyielding and indestructible "Communist monolith."

This, in the view of Humphrey and Nixon, has opened possibilities for a fresh approach to Russia, China and East Europe and a new initiative in U.S. foreign policy.

David Lawrence Says Collective Defense Seen As Peacekeeper of Future

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Soviet press, which is controlled by the Soviet government, has just denounced Richard Nixon, the Republican nominee for the presidency of the United States, as an "imperialist." Doubtless it will express the same opinion about the selection of Hubert Humphrey as the Democratic nominee because he will have the support of the Johnson Administration. But the fact is that the Moscow regime itself has been carrying on a militant imperialism and is plainly responsible for continuance of the Vietnam War.

None of the spokesmen for either party in this country has thus far laid it on the line by telling the voters that a large number of American troops would not be in Vietnam today if instead a peace-keeping force had been sent there by the collective action of the members of the United Nations.

It has often been said on the stump during the current political campaign that the United States "has no business in Vietnam." This would be true if the United Nations obeyed its own charter and acted as a "peace policeman" whenever nations, large or small, are the victims of aggression.

The Soviet government openly admitted it had helped the Red Chinese when the latter joined in the attack against South Korea in 1950, despite the fact that the United Nations had authorized a military defense and had called upon its members—including the Soviet Union—to assist in repelling the aggression.

Today the Russian government is supplying billions of dollars worth of arms and munitions to the North Vietnamese in defiance of the purposes of the United Nations to which Moscow subscribed when it joined the body. If the Soviets were not plotting to control Southeast Asia, there wouldn't be any Vietnam war going on now, and an agreement could be promptly concluded to supervise elections and guarantee to the people of North and South Vietnam their right of self-determination.

Oddly enough, in the areas of the world where free expression is possible, very little has been said in condemnation of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union, even when it mobilizes an army to dominate the captive nations of Eastern Europe.

The charter of the United Nations gives the General Assembly power by two-thirds vote to make "recommendations with respect to the maintenance of international peace and security." These may include collective measures and the use of armed forces. There are 122 member countries in the United Nations, and most of them are small and need the protection that the U.N. presumably will give them. But as long as some of the principal governments—including one of the most powerful—intimidate the smaller nations, there isn't much chance of the U.N. authorizing the collective defense of any country which the Soviet government seeks to dominate.

The weaknesses of the U.N. have been conceded. But collective action, of course, is possible without the authorization of the United Nations. New alliances can be formed, and the proposed steps need only to be reported to the U.N. This doesn't mean, however, that the world organization is justified in refusing to help maintain peace when it declines to authorize its members to aid in repelling a war of aggression in Vietnam.

The United States has obtained in Southeast Asia the help of a few allies. But significantly none of the European nations has come to the assistance of the American government on a mission which is plainly in accordance with the U.N. charter. The Vietnam War has reached the point where the United States government feels that a withdrawal is impossible without some assurance that South Vietnam will be protected against the Communists government in Hanoi and its backers.

Saigon Gains a Powerful Ally

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Sources in South Vietnam close to the Cao Dai have sent word to this reporter that that religious sect is quietly shifting heavily toward the Saigon government's side of the war.

If this is true, and those from whom this information comes are high in the trust of the top men of the Cao Dai, this is good news indeed for winning the war in Vietnam.

There are between 2½ and 3 million Cao Dai in the 15 million population of the south. The sect is considerably larger and much more effective than the militant Buddhist factions which triggered President Diem's overthrow and later endangered the Nguyen Cao Ky government.

The Cao Dai has an importance greater than its numbers. It is a militant group, with some military expertise. It has considerable political potential.

The major Cao Dai branch is headquartered in Tay Ninh Province, adjacent to areas where the Viet Cong have been very strong for years and not far from the Cambodian VC sanctuary.

The sect is now organizing the nucleus of what may become its political wing—a fast-growing strongly nationalistic veterans' association, with an auxiliary youth group.

The veterans' association and its youth group are understood to be setting up community self-defense units throughout the sect's areas.

The Cao Dai years ago reached some sort of accommodation with the Viet Cong whereby they would, by and large, stay more or less neutral. The feeling was that the Cao Dai would not interfere with the VC if the VC left the Cao Dai and its areas alone.

Some groupings of the Cao Dai have co-operated strongly with the Viet Cong and its National Liberation Front.

It is understood the shift in the Cao Dai is a result in considerable part of the elections in the past several years. Though Cao Dai tickets lost, these elections convinced Cao Dai leaders that representative government was on the way in South Vietnam and that the Cao Dai would have a means, through these elections, of making its influence felt.

The Cao Dai is an unusual sect, formed about 1919. The doctrine draws heavily on both Christianity and Buddhism and the ritual on Vietnamese folk religion as well. Its adherents believe their God is the Jehovah of the Jews and Christians, the Supreme Being of the Buddhists and the Brahma of the Hindus. The Cao Dai cathedral at Tay Ninh has statues of Confucius, Jesus, Buddha, Lao-tzu, Brahma, Siva and Vishnu.

The Cao Dai claims several spiritual "fathers" give guidance to the sect through mediums. These "fathers" or "saints" include Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese revolutionary; Trang Trinh, a Vietnamese diviner, and the French writer-poet, Victor Hugo.

Had Lucy Mercer come to the White house in the times she had been away? The truth could not be denied. Eleanor's resentment could not be dismissed. She announced that she was getting out of the White House immediately."

She packed in record time. Daniels goes on to tell of Mrs. Rutherford's own death, July 31, 1948. "The world little noticed," he reported. "The New York Times obituary gave much of its attention to her dead husband."

Mrs. Roosevelt outlived Lucy by many years, and Daniels concludes his book by telling of Mrs. R's busy life, especially her life on July 31, the day of Lucy's death. She had taken a trip to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where she dedicated a monument to her husband.

"The afternoon was growing late. The road she followed along the New Jersey-Pennsylvania line ran, as the twilight came on that afternoon, a little north of Allamuchy."

"There the word had come to prepare Lucy's place in the Rutherford family cemetery at Tranquility under the little mountains and not far from the pond where occasionally a blue heron stood as at Val-Kill. The big, old Rutherford house loomed, solid and heavy in the dark. It had given Lucy shelter. She had given it grace, affection, a warm heart and a blithe spirit. She was welcome to its earth. Her story was over as Mrs. Roosevelt rode by, hurrying home—and to the world."

The Global View

Nixon, HHH: Few Differences

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (NEA)—Despite the competitive rhetoric of the election campaign, American voters will have to use a microscope to discover major differences in foreign policy between Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, and his Democratic rival, Hubert Humphrey.

Both candidates, seasoned politicians, are hardly novices in the field of international relations. They are equally aware of the changes that have occurred in the Communist and non-Communist worlds in the last decade. Each is anxious, in his own way, to bring American policies in line with the realities of the existing situation.

Like Humphrey, Nixon has discarded his rigid hawkish position on Vietnam and has become at least a reluctant dove.

The GOP platform, which was tailored to help Nixon's candidacy, no longer calls for a clear-cut military victory in the Southeast Asian conflict. Instead of increased U.S.

military involvement, the platform even calls for "progressive de-Americanization" of the war in Vietnam.

Like Humphrey, Nixon does not exclude the possibility of direct U.S. negotiations with the Viet Cong. However, he insists that such negotiations must have the approval of the Saigon government and should not jeopardize South Vietnam's independence.

In this respect Nixon and Humphrey differ sharply with Sen. Eugene McCarthy who has been urging the Johnson administration to include the Viet Cong Communists in a coalition government with or without the consent of Saigon and without any prior conditions or agreements.

Both Nixon and Humphrey urge the South Vietnamese people to take more of the responsibility in the conduct of the war. However, they equally reject what Gen. Eisenhower called a "camouflaged surrender" of the legitimate American or Allied interests. Both refer vaguely to a "peace with honor."

To be sure, the Democratic candidate, like his party, would be more generous with foreign aid than his Republican rival.

If Nixon adheres to the letter of the GOP platform, "Nations hostile to this country will receive no assistance from the United States," Humphrey believes that foreign aid could serve as a useful instrument of American foreign policy even if extended to hostile nations under proper conditions.

But this, after all, is a minor difference which will have to be evaluated and re-examined in accordance with changing international events.

On vital questions like NATO or U.S. relations with Russia and Red China there is indeed little difference between the views of Humphrey and Nixon.

The two candidates have made it clear that they continue to regard West Europe and NATO as the key to American security. Whoever is elected president will seek to reorganize and strengthen NATO and use his influence for greater European unity, including the admission of Britain into the Common Market.

Neither Humphrey nor Nixon believes that the Communists, whether pro-Russian or pro-Chinese, have abandoned their Marxist-Leninist dream of "revolutionary wars of liberation."

But they agree that Russia's quarrel with Red China and the wave of reform in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere in East Europe has considerably weakened what was once feared as an unyielding and indestructible "Communist monolith."

This, in the view of Humphrey and Nixon, has opened up possibilities for a fresh approach to Russia, China and East Europe and a new initiative in U.S. foreign policy.

David Lawrence Says
Collective Defense Seen
As Peacekeeper of Future

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Soviet press, which is controlled by the Soviet government, has just announced Richard Nixon, the Republican nominee for the presidency of the United States, as an "imperialist." Doubtless it will express the same opinion about the selection of Hubert Humphrey as the Democratic nominee because he will have the support of the Johnson Administration. But the fact is that the Moscow regime itself has been carrying on a militant imperialism and is plainly responsible for continuation of the Vietnam War.

None of the spokesmen for either party in this country has thus far laid it on the line by telling the voters that a large number of American troops would not be in Vietnam today if instead a peace-keeping force had been sent there by the collective action of the members of the United Nations.

It has often been said on the stump during the current political campaign that the United States "has no business in Vietnam." This would be true if the United Nations obeyed its own charter and acted as a "world policeman" whenever nations, large or small, are the victims of aggression.

The Soviet government openly admitted it had helped the Red Chinese when the latter joined in the attack against South Korea in 1950, despite the fact that the United Nations had authorized a military defense and had called upon its members—including the Soviet Union—to assist in repelling the aggression.

Today the Russian government is supplying billions of dollars worth of arms and munitions to the North Vietnamese in defiance of the purposes of the United Nations to which Moscow subscribed when it joined the body. If the Soviets were not plotting to control Southeast Asia, there wouldn't be any Vietnam war going on now, and an agreement could be promptly concluded to supervise elections and guarantee to the people of North and South Vietnam their right of self-determination.

Oddly enough, in the areas of the world where free expression is possible, very little has been said in condemnation of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union, even when it mobilizes an army to dominate the captive nations of Eastern Europe.

The charter of the United Nations gives the General Assembly power by two-thirds vote to make "recommendations with respect to the maintenance of international peace and security." These may include collective measures and the use of armed forces. There are 122 member countries in the United Nations, and most of them are small and need the protection that the U.N. presumably will give them. But as long as some of the principal governments—including one of the most powerful—intimidate the smaller nations, there isn't much chance of the U.N. authorizing the collective defense of any country which the Soviet government seeks to dominate.

The weaknesses of the U.N. have been conceded. But collective action, of course, is possible without the authorization of the United Nations. New alliances can be formed, and the proposed steps need only to be reported to the U.N. This doesn't mean, however, that the world organization is justified in refusing to help maintain peace when it declines to authorize its members to aid in repelling a war of aggression in Vietnam.

The United States has obtained in Southeast Asia the help of a few allies. But significantly none of the European nations has come to the assistance of the American government on a mission which is plainly in accordance with the U.N. charter. The Vietnam War has reached the point where the United States government feels that a withdrawal is impossible without some assurance that South Vietnam will be protected against the Communists government in Hanoi and its backers.

Saigon Gains a Powerful Ally

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Sources in South Vietnam close to the Cao Dai have sent word to this reporter that that religious sect is quietly shifting heavily toward the Saigon government's side of the war.

If this is true, and those from whom this information comes are high in the trust of the top men of the Cao Dai, this is good news indeed for winning the war in Vietnam.

There are between 2½ and 3 million Cao Dai in the 15 million population of the south. The sect is considerably larger and much more effective than the militant Buddhist factions which triggered President Diem's overthrow and later endangered the Nguyen Cao Ky government.

The Cao Dai has an importance greater than its numbers. It is a militant group, with some military expertise. It has considerable political potential.

The major Cao Dai branch is headquartered in Tay Ninh Province, adjacent to areas where the Viet Cong have been very strong for years and not far from the Cambodian VC sanctuary.

The sect is now organizing the nucleus of what may become its political wing—a fast-growing strongly nationalistic veterans' association, with an auxiliary youth group.

The veterans' association and its youth group are understood to be setting up community self-defense units throughout the sect's areas.

The Cao Dai years ago reached some sort of accommodation with the Viet Cong whereby they would, by and large, stay more or less neutral. The feeling was that the Cao Dai would not interfere with the VC if the VC left the Cao Dai and its areas alone.

Some groupings of the Cao Dai have co-operated strongly with the Viet Cong and its National Liberation Front.

It is understood the shift in the Cao Dai is a result in considerable part of the elections in the past several years. Though Cao Dai tickets lost, these elections convinced Cao Dai leaders that representative government was on the way in South Vietnam and that the Cao Dai would have a means, through these elections, of making its influence felt.

The Cao Dai is an unusual sect, formed about 1919. The doctrine draws heavily on both Christianity and Buddhism and the ritual on Vietnamese folk religion as well. Its adherents believe their God is the Jehovah of the Jews and Christians, the Supreme Being of the Buddhists and the Brahma of the Hindus. The Cao Dai cathedral at Tay Ninh has statues of Confucius, Jesus, Buddha, Lao Tzu, Brahma, Siva and Vishnu.

The Cao Dai claims several spiritual "fathers" give guidance to the sect through mediums. These "fathers" or "saints" include Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese revolutionary; Trang Trinh, a Vietnamese diviner, and the French writer-poet, Victor Hugo.

Dear Sir:—

I am writing you in behalf of the new building, which my friends and I are vitally interested in, to be erected by the Hutton Nursing Home, at 172 Pearl Street, Kingston, N.Y. Many of us have relatives and friends, as patients in this home, medicare, medicaid and otherwise, who were and are very well taken care of, and I know of many others waiting for admission to this home for similar good care.

I cannot understand the reasons for this but I believe they are having some difficulty in using their land to erect a new building as a home, which I understand is OKed by the State and also by the City Council. With a new building such as this the amount of tax money would be beneficial to the taxpayer which should be considered.

Everyone knows there is a deplorable shortage of Nursing Homes such as the Hutton Nursing Home and we all think every possible means should be taken to encourage, not discourage the growth of such projects. This home, I understand, has been in existence for over 40 years and has earned a good reputation over the years, and everything should be done, for the sake of humanity, to help, not hinder many more, so badly needed. It is an astonishing fact that so many friends I know cannot get beds anywhere for the care they so desperately need. What are they to do? Die?

All my friends and I will fight to help Mrs. Hutton to continue the good work she is doing. We think the land where she intends to build is a good site for such a home and will be a credit to the community. For the sake of all concerned we are all praying that she be helped to erect this building as soon as possible. There is a dire need for many more such nursing homes and the means of saving many lives.

Dear Sir:

Recently John S. Dyson attacked Hamilton Fish for not debating before the public. He also attacked those who would turn "the 28th District into their own political fiefdom."

Is Mr. Dyson willing to debate with Peter Kane Dufault in order to show who is more suited to receive the endorsement of the Coalition for a Democratic Alternative? Is Mr. Dyson willing to tell the public just how he happened to be picked as a candidate?

I wonder how Mr. Dyson will measure up to the standard he has set for others.

To the Taxpayers of the Village of Saugerties:

The Annual Financial Report of the Village of Saugerties for Fiscal Year, June 1, 1967 and ending May 31, 1968 was published in The Catskill Mountain Star, July 25, 1968. It is suggested that anyone that has read this report read it again; and those that haven't, get a copy and read it.

Disbursements listed under the heading of "Other Expenses", total: Fifty-one thousand, one hundred twelve dollars and ninety cents, ($51,112.90). Disbursements that are itemized total: One hundred fifty-five thousand, eight hundred fifty-three dollars and eighteen cents, ($155,853.18).

Doesn't it seem possible that a $27,000 plus disbursement, a $7,000 plus, a $4,000 plus, a $3,000 plus and a couple of $2,000 plus disbursements could be itemized more clearly than to just say, "Other Expenses". Paying $400.00 to audit $51,112.90 worth of "Other Expenses" would almost seem to be a waste of money.

"Other Expenses", seems to be an expensive way to spend Fifty-one thousand, one hundred twelve dollars and ninety cents, ($51,112.90.)

My wife has just received this letter from her sister. This sister has a grandson just home from Vietnam discharged from the Army with his service completed. He was a technician there quartered in the larger cities.

She writes, "He has no sympathy whatever with the war, the why of it, or the Vietnam people. Of course the only ones he came in contact with were shopkeepers and workmen, and he says all they are interested in is trying to cheat the GI and to take all his money from him. He says the Vietnam people want the war to last forever so that there will be lots of Americans over there and they can get rich off of them. SO FOR THAT OUR AMERICAN BOYS DIE."

We also have a nephew, a West Pointer, a captain. He relates that when he was wounded, and was on a stretcher being born away by Vietnamese soldiers, he was holding his few possessions on his chest, his arms folded over them. As he raised his arms to retrieve his sleeping battle helmet, a Vietnamese soldier grabbed them and ran off in full view of the Vietnamese litter bearers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—

A major argument of U.S. proponents of a guaranteed annual income—that other industrialized nations use such systems to eliminate poverty—was challenged in a Congressional report.

The report, prepared by a Virginia professor of business administration, was released by the joint economic committee of Congress with accompanying comments from its chairman, Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.)

Various proposals have been

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

August 15, 1948—A larger exhibit area than designated in former years was planned for the Ulster County Fair due to open Aug. 18 at Forsyth Park.

A new coin-operated stamp machine was due to be placed at the central post office.

Ten persons were reported injured in two traffic mishaps in the Highland-Marlboro area.

The baseball team of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association was due to play the Stamford Pioneers Aug. 18 in the municipal stadium.

Aug. 15, 1958—Recommendations that the District Attorney's salary be increased to $10,000 without any additional restrictions on his private practice of law were made to the Board of Supervisors.

Dr. Maurice H. Greenhill of New York City was appointed organizational director of the proposed Ulster County Mental Health Center.

made for aiding America's 26,000,000 poor by bringing their incomes up to a "floor," the two most frequently suggested programs are a negative income tax, a system of using the Internal Revenue Service to pay money out as well as take it in, and family allowances.

Proponents here of guaranteed minimum income schemes have maintained the United States is behind other industrialized nations in social welfare because they guarantee income while the United States does not.

Reflecting on his committee's report, prepared by Prof. Martin Schnitzer of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Proxmire said:

"Those who have pointed to the European countries or to Canada as shining examples of what we in this country should be striving for are going to be disappointed by Dr. Schnitzer's finding."

Schnitzer's study covered Great Britain, France, Denmark, Sweden and Canada.

Proxmire said that "with the exception of the family allowance, which is regular cash payment to families with children, each of the five countries studied relies on standard social welfare measures which are also used in the United States to provide a minimum income floor. The variations are simply a matter of degree rather than kind."

The income maintenance systems which the United States has in common with the countries studied include social security, unemployment compensation and public assistance.

Proxmire and Schnitzer noted that "none of the countries studied uses or is even debating the use of what is known as the 'negative income tax.'"

Schnitzer added that "the European countries are doing things better than we are in the whole area of social assistance may be in for a disappointment."

To justify that comment, both Proxmire and Schnitzer noted that all five countries have groups that could be classified as poor. "None of the countries studied," Proxmire said, "has formal programs designed to help a particular class of people designated as the 'poor.'"

However, Proxmire said, the proportion of families regarded as poor in Canada and Sweden—the nations that follow the United States in per capita income—is lower than in the United States. One-eighth of the nation is poor here, while one-tenth are in the other two nations.

The family allowance—the program the other countries have that the United States doesn't—was criticized by Schnitzer and Proxmire as involving "wastage," since the European countries pay it to all families, not just to the poor.

Proxmire said: "For example, if a $10 a month allowance were paid for all children under 18 in this country, the cost would be about $8.5 billion. About one-fifth of all American children live in poor families, which means that only about $2 billion would go to poor families."

"So the family allowance system used in the five countries studied obviously does not provide the kind of precision instrument we need to attack poverty in the United States."

However, Schnitzer noted that in France, family allowances do provide up to 20 per cent of the income of a low-wage working family. In Denmark, payments beyond the general family allowance are made to families with substandard income.

24-Hour Strike Called

10,000 Pay Homage to Student Shot Down in Montevideo Riots

By ISAAC A. LEVI
Associated Press Writer
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Thousands of Uruguayans paid homage today to a student slain in anti-government riots, underlining growing opposition to President Jorge Pacheco Areco.

The 400,000-member National Convention of Labor called a nationwide 24-hour strike to honor Liber Arce, 29-year-old national university student who died Wednesday of bullet wounds suffered during a riot Monday. The stoppage was called in defiance of a presidential ban on strikes.

The administration, shaken by the mounting opposition, announced that it would permit a funeral demonstration today for Arce. The government closed high schools until further notice, and university students cut classes in preparation for the campus funeral for Arce, who they claimed was a victim of police bullets.

At least 10,000 mourners lined up outside the university's main hall Wednesday night as Arce's body was brought there to lie in state. Thousands more converged on the building during the night. Floral wreaths filled the hall.

Police did not interfere although they maintained a guard at a discreet distance.

Workers walked or bicycled to the campus in groups of 200 to 300, carrying Uruguayan flags and wreaths. About 1,000 bank clerks marched down the 18th of July Avenue, Montevideo's main street, with flags and flowers.

The Chamber of Deputies observed a minute of silence in tribute to the dead student. All clerks and administrative personnel at the parliament building joined in.

The army reinforced its guard around Government House and other strategic posts in the capital, but there were no disturbances. Student leaders circulated orders to avoid disturbances until today.

Student riots erupted last Friday after police raided the university, seeking clues to the abduction by a pro-Peking group of Ulises Pereira Reverbel, a leading presidential adviser and head of the telephone and power company. Pereira was released unharmed Sunday, but student riots continued Monday and Tuesday, protesting alleged police brutality as well as the government's austerity program to combat inflation and the hard line it has adopted toward labor and student unrest.

Child to Ask Church Leaders For Help in Starving Biafra

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — "And a little child shall lead them." That phrase from Biblical prophecy—Isaiah 11:6—is the idea behind a trip planned to day for a little girl in behalf of the starving children of embattled Biafra, in the eastern sector of Nigeria.

Melanie Nix, 9, is going to see the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, in London, and then to Rome, to try to see Pope Paul VI, to urge their help sponsors said.

"She's going as a representative of all children, both the healthy and the dying," said Paul Connitt, chairman of the Committee to Keep Biafra Alive. "We hope that she'll be received and listened to."

He added that "too many leaders have been quiet" about the mass starvation of Biafran children "and we hope that the appeal of a child may be given some importance."

"If we've come to the time when a child isn't considered important, then it's a sad thing," he said.

The committee is a nonsectarian organization seeking to gather relief supplies to be channeled through facilities of church and other voluntary agencies.

It is urging observance this Sunday of an "International Day of Sorrow and Hope"—Sorrow for children who have died and hope for those still living. Churches were urged to hold special services and ring their bells on the hours.

"If the bells ring now with new hope, then they won't have to toll later for death," Connitt said. A telegram was sent to President Johnson asking him to proclaim the day, and to order flags kept at half staff.

As part of the observance, the committee also appealed to Americans to keep a light burning in all apartments and homes throughout this Sunday night symbolizing the motto: "Don't let the lights go out for Biafran children."

Melanie, of South Amboy, N.J., is scheduled to leave Kennedy airport for London by British Overseas Airline tonight, accompanied by a guardian, after a news conference.

Among her objectives is to enlist the support of the church leaders in observance to the day, and to persuade Pope Paul to visit the United Nations in behalf of the Biafran children as part of his trip to Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 22-24.

"It was her own idea to go to the Pope," Connitt said. "She comes from a very religious family and she's very articulate. We just picked her from a lot of little kids we have working around here."

She was among children active in a "Life Line" service near the United Nations about a week ago, in which people brought canned goods and foodstuffs for shipment to Biafra. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Nix, of South Amboy.

Teamsters Out, Certify CSEA In Water Dept.

An order establishing a negotiating unit among certain employees in the Kingston City Water Department was released today by an official of the New York State Public Employment Relations Board. The unit determination was made by PERB's Director of Representation, Paul E. Klein, under provisions of the Taylor Law.

Klein said that the Civil Service Employees' Association had petitioned PERB on March 22, 1968, for decertification of Teamster's Local 445 as the negotiating representative for a unit of water department employees.

CSEA contended that the appropriate unit consisted of all employees including office personnel but excluding the labor foreman. The Teamster's claimed the appropriate unit consisted of all employees except the superintendent of the water department, the cashier-assistant secretary, the water works foreman, the labor foreman, and the chief water plant operator.

The labor foreman also has the authority on occasion to initiate disciplinary procedures and to authorize overtime for the department.

Klein ordered an election to be held unless either party could, within seven days after receipt of the decision, submit sufficient dues deductions and other evidence to satisfy PERB's procedures for certification without an election.

The election will be held on Aug. 29.

Attempted Breakins

Two attempted burglaries were reported by the County Sheriff's Office Wednesday in Kerhonkson.

Deputy Mendy Samuels reported that attempts were made to enter Martin Pharmacy and Lipton's Super Market on Route 209 in Kerhonkson. He said the hinge pins had been removed from the rear door of Martin's Pharmacy and there was evidence that an attempt had been made at Lipton's sometime during Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

Plattekill Hearing on Trailer Park

A public hearing will be held on Sept. 4 at the Town Hall to discuss a new trailer, trailer park and campsite law in the Town of Plattekill. It was announced last night at the Town of Plattekill board meeting.

The time of the hearing is scheduled to be announced later this month by the board. The hearing will deal with new regulations that are to be implemented regarding campsite and trailer park maintenance and locations.

It was also announced at last night's meeting that Mowbray Road in the Town of Plattekill from Route 44-55 to South Ohioville Road has been reclassified as South Ohioville Road. South Ohioville Road now extends from Route 44-55 to Route 209. The reclassification was made in cooperation with the New Paltz Post Office which distributed the mail along Mowbray Road after a petition was submitted to the board by the citizens of the Town of Plattekill.

A report on the Plattekill Youth Program was given at last night's meeting, commending the efforts of all the persons involved. It was reported that over 200 children attended the swimming lessons held at the pool of the Villa Garza in the Town of Plattekill. The program is directed by Eugene Vilva, physical education instructor at Wallkill Central School, who directed the swimming program, were commended for their fine job and for the success of the program. The five week session ended recently.

The Greenport Rescue Squad, city police, deputy sheriffs and state police participated in the search yesterday and this morning.

Sergeant Hugh Brennan of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, said today that deputies were still grappling in the river in the vicinity of the Poughkeepsie bridge for Walters, who is survived by his wife and four children.

Edward Burns, State Bridge Authority administrative officer, said William Robinson, former of the paint crew working on the Mid-Hudson span, saw Walters hit the water, remain motionless for a short time and then disappear in the water.

Gary Beers, 21, of 3 Reade Place, Poughkeepsie, was painting on the scaffold about six feet from Walters when the latter fell. Beers was uncertain as to what actually happened to cause the Pleasant Valley man to fall.

Burns contended there was Oscar G. Anderson, formerly of Saugerties, died Aug. 13 in West Hurley. He was formerly employed as custodian of the Mt. Marion School, Saugerties, and at the time of his death was employed as custodian of the Old Dutch Reformed Church in Kingston. He was a member of the Washington Hook and Ladder Company, Saugerties, and the Saugerties Exempt Firemen's Association. He is survived by his wife, Annie Rooney Anderson; two sons, Thomas G. and Christopher; and a daughter, Sheila all of Saugerties. One uncle in Holland and several nieces and nephews in South America also survive. The funeral will be held from the M. A. Galletta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, Saturday at 9 a. m. thence to St. Mary of the Snow Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 9:30 a. m. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights. The Saugerties Fire Company will call at the funeral home Friday at 7 p. m. Friends may call at the funeral home today 7 to 9 p. m. and Friday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Winners were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berleth of Woodstock. Second place went to Walter Daumann of Pine Hills and James Craven of Kingston; third place, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Korol of Kingston; fourth spot went to Mrs. Pauline Rideout and Shalil Ahmed of Poughkeepsie; fifth place to Mrs. Elizabeth Boedecker and John Levine of Poughkeepsie.

The Glenierie Bridge Club will hold its regular fractional point game at the Elks Club Tuesday 7:30 p. m. All bridge players may attend.

Clarence Campbell White, 53, of Pine Bush, who faces charges of cruelty to animals under a warrant obtained by Sheriff William B. Martin Monday, surrendered to the sheriff Wednesday night.

White was charged after Sheriff Martin, Deputy Marshal Canosa and SPCA Agent Arnold Adams found White's horses reportedly unattended in a stable at Clove Valley Ranch near High Falls.

White pleaded innocent at arraignment last night before Town of Rochester Justice Raymond Lawrence. Bail was set for $100 pending a hearing on Tuesday, Aug. 20 at 8 p. m.

Dr. Charles B. Freer, Ellenville veterinarian was called to the ranch by Sheriff Martin and reported he found four horses and a pony. One horse was dead, and another in very poor condition, the pony and a younger horse were in fair condition. They obviously had not been fed and watered for some time.

The raid had been staged by the sheriff following complaints of neighbors that the animals were being mistreated. The raiding party found the water tubs empty and no grain in sight.

The owner of the ranch is Wilbur Smith of High Falls, who is in New York City most of the time and comes to High Falls on weekends. Investigation indicated that Smith permitted White to stable his horses at the ranch.

Body of Hudson Boy Recovered From River

The body of a 9-year-old Hudson boy, who drowned in the Hudson River off the Columbia County city shore Wednesday afternoon after he and a 4-year-old companion fell into the water, was recovered at 9:05 a. m. today by State Police scuba divers from Troop K.

Meanwhile, Dutchess County sheriff's deputies continued to probe the waters of the Hudson River in the vicinity of the Mid-Hudson Bridge in Poughkeepsie, for Joseph Walters, 28, of 30 O'Halloran Circle, Pleasant Valley, who fell more than 100 feet from the span on Tuesday.

Torin Brandow, son of Mrs. Helen Brandow of 14 Prison Alley, Hudson, drowned yesterday after he and Timothy Jones, 4, of Conway, S. C., who is visiting in Hudson with his parents, fell into the river near the recently opened Hudson Boat Launch Marina.

The younger boy was rescued by Paul Rogers, 34, of Ten Broeck Lane, Hudson, with the aid of off-duty patrolman Thomas Jent and Leo Bernackie, who threw a line to the boy and pulled him ashore.

Crying for help, the 9-year-old boy sank in about 10 feet of water. Joseph Phibbs, of East Schodack, a state inspector who was at the marina where the tragedy occurred, dove into the water in a futile attempt to rescue the Brandow boy.

Authorities said his body was recovered from the river in about 15 feet of water.

Rogers, one of the rescuers of the younger boy, leaped into the river and grabbed the child, while the line was thrown to him by the police.

The Greenport Rescue Squad, city police, deputy sheriffs and state police participated in the search yesterday and this morning.

Melanie Nix, 9, is going to see the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, in London, and then to Rome, to try to see Pope Paul VI, to urge their help sponsors said.

"She's going as a representative of all children, both the healthy and the dying," said Paul Connitt, chairman of the Committee to Keep Biafra Alive. "We hope that she'll be received and listened to."

He added that "too many leaders have been quiet" about the mass starvation of Biafran children "and we hope that the appeal of a child may be given some importance."

"If we've come to the time when a child isn't considered important, then it's a sad thing," he said.

The committee is a nonsectarian organization seeking to gather relief supplies to be channeled through facilities of church and other voluntary agencies.

It is urging observance this Sunday of an "International Day of Sorrow and Hope"—Sorrow for children who have died and hope for those still living. Churches were urged to hold special services and ring their bells on the hours.

"If the bells ring now with new hope, then they won't have to toll later for death," Connitt said. A telegram was sent to President Johnson asking him to proclaim the day, and to order flags kept at half staff.

As part of the observance, the committee also appealed to Americans to keep a light burning in all apartments and homes throughout this Sunday night symbolizing the motto: "Don't let the lights go out for Biafran children."

Melanie, of South Amboy, N.J., is scheduled to leave Kennedy airport for London by British Overseas Airline tonight, accompanied by a guardian, after a news conference.

Among her objectives is to enlist the support of the church leaders in observance to the day, and to persuade Pope Paul to visit the United Nations in behalf of the Biafran children as part of his trip to Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 22-24.

"It was her own idea to go to the Pope," Connitt said. "She comes from a very religious family and she's very articulate. We just picked her from a lot of little kids we have working around here."

She was among children active in a "Life Line" service near the United Nations about a week ago, in which people brought canned goods and foodstuffs for shipment to Biafra. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Nix, of South Amboy.

Three teenagers were injured Tuesday afternoon when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Sawkill Road near Melissa Road, skidded on gravel and hit a utility pole, according to a report of Trooper Thomas J. Crowley of the Kingston Substation.

Troopers said Peter Montaures, 16, of Rosedale, was driving the car west on the highway when the mishap occurred. He sustained a laceration over the left eye. Passengers in the car were Jeffrey Schneider, 16, of Camp Woodcliff, who received abrasions and contusions of the back and Nelson Lohre, 17, who is staying at the camp. He suffered lacerations over the right eye.

The injured youths were treated at the camp infirmary. Montaures was cited by Trooper Crowley for being an unlicensed driver.

Pick Up Two Youths Wanted In Dutchess

Two teenagers wanted in connection with a second degree grand larceny charge in the Town of Poughkeepsie surrendered to Ulster County sheriff's deputies Wednesday night at Marlboro.

Deputies Barton Kniffin and James Milesky identified the two as James Levetre, 18, of Marlboro, and Salvatore Colombo, 17, of Milton.

The two and another, not immediately identified, were being sought by Town of Poughkeepsie police in connection with an auto theft in that township.

Ulster Crash Injures Two Long Islanders

Two Long Island residents were injured at 4 p. m. Wednesday in a traffic accident on Route 9W in the Town of Ulster, according to Kingston State Police.

Trooper E. A. Zeboris said Lydia Taffe, 65, of Astoria, was driving south when an unidentified vehicle approached and the woman swerved to avoid a collision. Her car hit the wall.

The woman was treated at Benedictine Hospital for a whiplash of the neck and possible back injuries. A passenger, Raymond McGarrigal, 65, also of Astoria, was treated for a whiplash, back and neck injuries and a fractured vertebrae.

The injured were taken from the scene of the accident to the hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service.

Three teenagers were injured Tuesday afternoon when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Sawkill Road near Melissa Road, skidded on gravel and hit a utility pole, according to a report of Trooper Thomas J. Crowley of the Kingston Substation.

Teamsters Out, Certify CSEA In Water Dept.

An order establishing a negotiating unit among certain employees in the Kingston City Water Department was released today by an official of the New York State Public Employment Relations Board. The unit determination was made by PERB's Director of Representation, Paul E. Klein, under provisions of the Taylor Law.

Klein said that the Civil Service Employees' Association had petitioned PERB on March 22, 1968, for certification of Teamster's Local 445 as the negotiating representative for a unit of water department employees.

CSEA contended that the appropriate unit consisted of all employees including office personnel but excluding the laborer and the chief water plant operator.

The laborer's union also has the authority on occasion to initiate disciplinary procedures and to authorize overtime for the Department.

Klein ordered an election to be held unless either party could, within seven days after receipt of the decision, submit sufficient dues deductions and other evidences to satisfy PERB's procedures for certification without an election.

Attempted Breakins

Two attempted burglaries were reported by the County Sheriff's Office Wednesday in Kerhonkson.

Deputy Mendy Samuels reported that attempts were made to enter Martin Pharmacy and Lipton's Super Market on Route 209 in Kerhonkson. He said the hinge pins had been removed from the rear door of Martin's Pharmacy and there was evidence that an attempt had been made at Lipton's sometime during Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

Plattekill Hearing on Trailer Park

A public hearing will be held on Sept. 4 at the Town Hall to discuss a new trailer, trailer park and campsite law in the Town of Plattekill. It was announced last night at the Town of Plattekill board meeting.

The time of the hearing is scheduled to be announced later this month by the board. The hearing will deal with new regulations that are to be imposed regarding campsite and trailer park maintenance and locations.

It was also announced at last night's meeting that Mowbray Road in the Town of Plattekill from Route 44-55 to South Ohioville Road has been reclassified as South Ohioville Road. South Ohioville Road now extends from Route 44-55 to Route 209. The reclassification was made in cooperation with the New Paltz Post Office, which distributed the mail along Mowbray Road after a petition was submitted to the board by the citizens of the Town of Plattekill.

A report on the Plattekill Youth Program was given at last night's meeting, commending the efforts of all the persons involved. It was reported that over 200 children attended the swimming lessons held at the pool of the Villa Garcia. John Pliego, physical education instructor at Pine Bush Central School and Eugene Vilva, physical education instructor at Wallkill Central School, who directed the swimming program, were commended for their fine job and for the success of the program. The five week session ended recently.

Aug. 29 Last Day for Central Registration

Thursday, Aug. 29, will be the last day for central registration at the offices of the Ulster County Board of Elections in the County Office Building, Fair and Main Streets.

Those who must register are new voters, those wishing to change their enrollment and those who must report a change of address.

Those requiring absentee ballots may write or call or send someone to the Election Board offices for a ballot. These ballots will be issued no later than seven days before election. They are also available at the voters local registration place at the time of local registration.

Local registration in all voting places in the county has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 28 from 12 noon to 10 p. m.; Friday, Oct. 4 from 6 a. m. to 12 noon and Saturday, Oct. 5 from 12 noon to 10 p. m. This also applies to the City of Kingston.

First voters in New York State required proof of age and literacy, sixth grade or higher.

Halvorsen Is Research Head

John M. Halvorsen has been named manager of scheduling and control in the research services division, research and development department of The Norwich Pharmacal Company. Division director George V. O'Brien announced the appointment.

A U. S. Air Force veteran, Halvorsen received his B.S. degree from SUNY at New Paltz. After teaching high school biology for three years, he entered Syracuse University, earning his M.S. degree which will be presented this month.

Halvorsen, his wife Karen and their children, Kathleen, 7, and David, 2, are making their home in Norwich.

Innocent Plea Given by Man In Dude Ranch Horse Charge

Clarence Campbell White, 53, of Pine Bush, who faces charges of cruelty to animals under a warrant obtained by Sheriff William B. Martin Monday, surrendered to the sheriff Wednesday night.

White was charged after Sheriff Martin, Deputy Marshal Canosa and SPCA Agent Arnold Adams found White's horses reportedly unattended in a stable at Clover Valley Ranch near High Falls.

White pleaded innocent at arraignment last night before Town of Rochester Justice Raymond Lawrence. Bail was set for $100 pending a hearing on Tuesday, Aug. 20 at 8 p. m.

Dr. Charles B. Freer, Ellenville veterinarian was called to the ranch by Sheriff Martin and reported he found four horses and a pony. One horse was dead, another in very poor condition, the pony and a younger horse were in fair condition. They obviously had not been fed and watered for some time.

The raid had been staged by the sheriff following complaints of neighbors that the animals were being mistreated. The raiding party found the water tubs empty and no grain in sight.

The owner of the ranch is Wilbur Smith of High Falls, who is in New York City most of the time and comes to High Falls on weekends. Investigation indicated that Smith permitted White to stable his horses at the ranch.

Bridge Results

The Glenerie Bridge Club held its Open Mixed Pairs Club championships at the Elks' Club, Fair Street, and played 27 boards in a Scrambled Mitchell Movement.

Body of Hudson Boy Recovered From River

The body of a 9-year-old Hudson boy, who drowned in the Hudson River off the Columbia County city shore Wednesday afternoon after he and a 4-year-old companion fell into the water, was recovered at 9:05 a. m. today by State Police scuba divers from Troop K.

Meanwhile, Dutchess County sheriff's deputies continued to probe the waters of the Hudson River in the vicinity of the Mid-Hudson Bridge in Poughkeepsie, for Joseph Walters, 28, of 30 O'Halloran Circle, Pleasant Valley, who fell more than 100 feet from the span on Tuesday.

Torin Brandow, son of Mrs. Helen Brandow of 14 Prison Alley, Hudson, drowned yesterday after he and Timothy Jones, 4, of Conway, S. C., who is visiting in Hudson with his parents, fell into the river near the recently opened Hudson Boat Launch Marina.

The younger boy was rescued by Paul Rogers, 34, of Ten Broeck Lane, Hudson, with the aid of off-duty patrolman Thomas Jent and Leo Bernackie, who threw a line to the boy and pulled him ashore.

Crying for help, the 9-year-old boy sank in about 10 feet of water. Joseph Phibbs, of East Road, Schodack, a state inspector who was at the marina where the tragedy occurred, dove into the water in a futile attempt to rescue the Brandow boy.

Authorities said his body was recovered from the river in about 15 feet of water.

Rogers, one of the rescuers of the younger boy, leaped into the river and grabbed the child, while the line was thrown to him by the police.

The Greenport Rescue Squad, city police, deputy sheriffs and state police participated in the search yesterday and this morning.

Sergeant Hugh Brennan of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, said today that deputies were still grappling in the river in the vicinity of the Poughkeepsie bridge for Walters, who is survived by his wife and four children.

Edward J. Burns, State Bridge Authority administrative officer, said William Robinson, former of the paint crew working on the Mid-Hudson span, saw Walters hit the water, reappear above the surface, remain motionless for a short time and then disappear in the water.

Gary Beers, 21, of 3 Reade Place, Poughkeepsie, was painting on the scaffold about six feet from Walters when the latter fell. Beers was uncertain as to what actually happened to cause the Pleasant Valley man to fall.

Burns contended there was no failure on the part of any equipment and he noted that Walters was an experienced painter and climber. Walters had been a painter employed by the Bridge Authority for the last four years. He had just reported back for work following his summer vacation.

Sewer Hearing in Ulster Rescheduled to September 10

The public hearing on the Town of Ulster's proposed $4,528,000 project and establishment of an Ulster Sewer Improvement Area has been rescheduled to Tuesday, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p. m. in Chambers School.

Seymour Werbalowsky, attorney for the town said the public hearing date had to be rescheduled because the public notice in the local newspapers did not appear 10 days before the hearing. Due to some mix-up the hearing notice was published on Monday, rather than Saturday, the last day for notification.

4-Mile Coverage
Specifications, costs and other details of the proposed sewer project to service 1,500 families within a four-mile area of the township were unveiled at an informational meeting held July 25 at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

According to specifications drawn by J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates, consulting engineers of Rensselaer, the cost based on an estimated total assessed valuation of $7,200,000 by the time of the first year of operation will be $34.85 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The target date for full operation is 1970.

The collection system is estimated to cost $3,584,000, the treatment plant $944,000 with a total of $1,569,000 eligible for state and federal aid, or 34.6 per cent of the total project.

The proposed treatment plant would be located on a 10-acre tract to be acquired along the Esopus Creek in the area approximately 400 feet south of the Kingston by-pass.

The proposed improvement area embraces approximately 3.94 square miles and is generally bounded on the north by Leggs Mills Road; on the east by the natural drainage divide running generally parallel to and to the east of Route 9W; on the south by the city line, and on the west by the Esopus Creek.

Approximately 4,600 persons, according to the 1965 population figures, are expected to be served by the facility. However, in 1970 this is estimated to be 5,400 and in 1980, 7,085.

The project includes installation of about 134,000 feet of gravity sewers; construction of a 35 million gallons per day primary and secondary treatment plants; two sewage pumping stations, one for Orlando Street area and another for a portion of Parish Lane.

The engineer's survey indicated the annual expense for proper operation and maintenance of the system would be about $33,000 annually.

It is proposed to finance the obligation serial bonds having project with 40-year general average annual interest rate of 5 per cent.

The estimated total assessed valuation within the proposed improvement area as of December 1967 was $6,788,600. Based upon the growth within the area within recent years, it is anticipated that the annual growth rate of $200,000 of assessed valuation per year will result in a total of $7,200,000 by the first year of operation.

Based on an estimated 1,580 families requiring sewer service in 1970, the average annual expense for operation and maintenance of the system would be about $16.80 per family. The average residential property owner having an assessed valuation of about $1,650 will pay a total of $74.32 per year for sewer service in 1970.

Town Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz has filed a map of the proposed Ulster Sewer Improvement Area and report of full specifications with the town clerk.

Esopus Speed Limits

J. Burch McMorran, State Commissioner of Transportation announced recently that new traffic control orders have been issued for Ulster County. The major changes concerned the Town of Esopus, which has established a 30-mile-per-hour speed limit within the Port Jervis, Connelly and Sleightsburg area.

Former Cohoes Demo Leader Pushes Tax Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—William J. Dawson, one-time head of the Cohoes Democratic organization in Albany County, today was preparing further action to tip set his conviction on income tax evasion.

Dawson served as Cohoes' Democratic chairman from 1959 in 1960. Dawson charged the case was to 1964 and was considered a leader of the old school of politics. He was accused on three counts of income tax evasion totaling more than $68,000 over three years. He was acquitted of a count of evading $19,050 in 1960. His political fortunes took a nosedive in 1963 when a citizens reform group took power. In 1967 Cohoes received a national All-American city award.

The Second Circuit Court of the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld Dawson's Federal Court conviction for evading $49,365 in income taxes in 1959 and 1961.

Dawson faces two years in prison on the 1959 charge and three years probation on the 1961 count. He has been free on $2,500 bail pending appeal.

Disclosure of the decision by a three judge panel was made Wednesday.

Defense attorney Benjamin Ungerman of Albany said he is seeking a review of the case by all 12 justices of the Second Circuit, U.S. Court of Appeals. Ungerman said he is appealing his case on grounds that others in "like situations" were not prosecuted.

3 Injured, Driver Cited

Three persons were injured who posted a $100 bail pending hearing. According to troopers, Corretto was driving east when his car reportedly crossed to the wrong side of the highway and was in collision with the oncoming vehicle driven by Briehl. Injured and taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh for treatment were Briehl, who sustained fractured ribs, and passengers in his car Ann Krieger, 36, of Wallkill, who suffered contusions of the face and Corretto, 23, of Wallkill, and Fred Briehl Sr., 75, also of Wallkill. The summonses for the violations were issued to Corretto, who was treated for bruises of the scalp and legs.

Town Dump Proposal Stirs Esopus Protest

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The announcement that the Town of Esopus had taken an option on a parcel of land along Hudson Lane, Ulster Park for consideration as a sanitary landfill project (a town dump) met a storm of protests at Wednesday night's board meeting in Port Jervis.

Supervisor George Freer's announcement sparked what appeared to be a well prepared opposition to the proposed dump site, even though there had been no public announcement about the project.

Other townships in Ulster County have also had problems with their usual dumping sites due to legislation action prohibiting burning on dumping sites after Dec. 31. Landfill operations will have to be instituted in all dumps after that date.

The price of the option or the size of the tract in question was not announced. However, Supervisor Freer said the town will arrange for the necessary surveys and feasibility studies and a public hearing will be held prior to purchase of the property.

The Town of Esopus is now using the private dump of Hayes and Wesley of Sleightsburg.

Objection

One objector to the project was Pasquale Mazer of New York City, who said he has 50 acres adjacent to the proposed dump site. A petition representing 91 property owners was filed with the Town Board objecting to the dump as it would draw rodents, would create a noise nuisance by dump trucks, would devalue property and retard future development.

Another objection by Warren Johnson suggested that the town consider investing in an incinerator. Supervisor Freer said this has been investigated and that the costs are prohibitive.

Town Planning Board Chairman Chester DuMont was asked why that particular location had been chosen. He said the proper fill was available and the site was accessible to the main road and it was in a secluded area.

In connection with the dump, Supervisor Freer said the Hudson River Valley Commission had advised the town that the commission would like to review the entire dump site proposal and also would like to be informed as the project progresses.

Freer said that wherever the dump is located, there will be complaints and some people will be unhappy about the location. However, the facility is needed and the town cannot get on without a dumping site.

In other business, the Town Board received word from the Penn-Central Railroad that their request for a flashing warning signal at the Esopus Avenue crossing has been granted and would be installed at the earliest possible moment. The Town Board has made frequent requests to the railroad for installation of the light.

The Town Board also heard from the State Department of Transportation on its request for a traffic sign at the junction of Route 213 and St. Remy Road. The department said it would conduct a study of the situation at this intersection.

Humphrey Jones of New Salem asked for action on the removal of dead trees bordering his property. He said his car had been damaged by a falling limb. Supervisor Freer advised him that the highway is owned by the county and he would have to contact the County Highway Department on the matter.

The State Board of Audit and Control advised the Town Board that it is reimbursing the township a sum of $1,197 from the receipts of the Town of Esopus Justice Court.

Supervisor Freer reported that in answer to a request from the County Board of Elections, for a listing of polling places, the county board has been advised that there have been no changes and all polling places are the same as last year.

Store Break Occurs While Family Mourns

While the family of Rudolph DeSilva were mourning over his death, someone forced their way into the general store at Boiceville he had operated the last 45 years and burglarized the place Wednesday night.

Kingston State Police BCI officers today conducted an investigation of the break-in. According to reports Rudy's General Store was entered after a rear screen door was cut and the back door broken. Missing from the store were about 20 wrist watches and other merchandise.

DeSilva, well-known merchant in the Boiceville area, died on Monday and funeral services were held for him on Wednesday.

Sewer Hearing in Ulster Rescheduled to September 10

The public hearing on the Town of Ulster's proposed $4,528,000 project and establishment of an Ulster Sewer Improvement Area has been rescheduled to Tuesday, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p. m. in Chambers School.

Seymour Werbalowsky, attorney for the town said the public hearing date had to be rescheduled because the "public notice in the local newspapers did not appear 10 days before the hearing. Due to some mix-up the hearing notice was published on Monday rather than Saturday, the last day for notification.

A petition representing 91 property owners was filed with the Town Board objecting to the dump as it would draw rodents, would create a noise nuisance by dump trucks, would devalue property and retard future development.

In other business, the Town Board received word from the Penn-Central Railroad that their request for a flashing warning signal at the Esopus Avenue crossing has been granted and would be installed at the earliest possible moment. The Town Board has made frequent requests to the railroad for installation of the light.

The target date for full operation is 1970.

The collection system is estimated to cost $3,584,000, the treatment plant $941,000 with a total of $1,569,000 eligible for state and federal aid, or 34.6 per cent of the total project.

The proposed treatment plant would be located on a 10-acre tract to be acquired along the Esopus Creek in the area approximately 400 feet south of the Kingston by-pass.

The proposed Improvement Area embraces approximately 3.94 square miles and is generally bounded on the north by Leggs Mills Road; on the east by the natural drainage divide running generally parallel to and to the east of Route 9W; on the south by the city line; and on the west by the Esopus Creek.

The engineer's survey indicated the annual expense for proper operation and maintenance of the system would be about $33,000 annually.

It is proposed to finance the obligation serial bonds having project with 40-year general average annual interest rate of 5 per cent.

The estimated total assessed valuation within the proposed Improvement Area as of December 1967 was $6,788,600. Based upon the growth within the area within recent years, it is anticipated that the annual growth rate of $200,000 of assessed valuation per year will result in a total of $7,200,000 by the first year of operation.

Based on an estimated 1,580 families requiring sewer service in 1970, the average annual expense for operation and maintenance of the system would be about $16.80 per family. The average residential property owner having an assessed valuation of about $1,650 will pay a total of $74.32 per year for sewer service in 1970.

Town Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz has filed a map of the proposed Ulster Sewer Improvement Area and report of full specifications with the town clerk.

Esopus Speed Limits

J. Burch McMorran, State Commissioner of Transportation announced recently that new traffic control orders have been issued for Ulster County. The major changes concerned the Town of Esopus, which has established a 30-mile-per-hour speed limit within the Port Jervis, Connelly and Slighsburg area.

Drivers Pay $105

Forty motorists charged with traffic violations appeared today before City Judge Hubert A. Richter and pleaded guilty. Fines aggregating $105 were collected.

Approximately 4,600 persons, according to the 1965 population figures, are expected to be served by the facility. However, in 1970 this is estimated to be 5,400 and in 1980, 7,085.

The project includes installation of about 134,000 feet of gravity sewers; construction of a .85 million gallons per day primary and secondary treatment plants; two sewage pumping stations, one for Orlando Street area and another for a portion of Parish Lane.

The engineer's survey indicated the annual expense for proper operation and maintenance of the system would be about $33,000 annually.

It is proposed to finance the obligation serial bonds having project with 40-year general average annual interest rate of 5 per cent.

The estimated total assessed valuation within the proposed Improvement Area as of December 1967 was $6,788,600. Based upon the growth within the area within recent years, it is anticipated that the annual growth rate of $200,000 of assessed valuation per year will result in a total of $7,200,000 by the first year of operation.

City Police Cite Drivers

Kingston police on Wednesday cited several motorists for Vehicle and Traffic law violations. Santiago Cruz, 19, of 254 First Avenue, was summoned for passing a stop sign, failure to produce a registration certificate, and being an unlicensed operator.

William J. Bradford, 23, of 202 Third Avenue, was cited for passing a red light and being an unlicensed operator. April S. Tyler, 19, of 303 Foxhall Avenue, was booked for operating a motor vehicle with insufficient lights and unsafe tires. Paul F. Koch, 20, of Third Avenue, was summoned for having no license and failure to produce a registration certificate.

Joseph A. Stubblefield, 20, of 222 East Union Street, was charged with operating a vehicle with inadequate muffler and causing an unnecessary noise with tires on the vehicle.

Stanley Resor will present the medal to Lauffer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Lauffer of Tucson, Ariz. in a ceremony at the Pentagon. Lauffer was killed when he charged an enemy machine gun emplacement to save wounded companions. (UPI TELEPHOTO FROM DEPT. OF DEFENSE).

Former Cohoes Demo Leader Pushes Tax Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—William J. Dawson, one-time head of the Cohoes Democratic organization in Albany County, today was preparing further action to tip set his conviction on income tax evasion.

Dawson served as Cohoes Democratic chairman from 1959 in 1960. Dawson charged the case was to 1964 and was considered a leader of the old school of politics. His political fortunes took a nosedive in 1963 when a citizens reform group took power. In 1967 Cohoes received a national All-American city award.

The Second Circuit Court of the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld Dawson's Federal Court conviction for evading $49,365 in income taxes in 1959 and 1961.

Dawson faces two years in prison on the 1959 charge and three years probation on the 1961 count. He has been free on $2,500 bail pending appeal.

Disclosure of the decision by a three judge panel was made Wednesday.

Defense attorney Benjamin Ungerman of Albany said he is seeking a review of the case by all 12 justices of the Second Circuit, U.S. Court of Appeals.

Ungerman said he is appealing his case on grounds that others in "like situations" were not prosecuted.

3 Injured, Driver Cited

Three persons were injured who posted a $100 bail pending hearing. According to troopers, Corretti was driving east when his car reportedly crossed to the wrong side of the highway and was in collision with the oncoming vehicle driven by Briehl.

Injured and taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh for treatment were Briehl, who sustained fractured ribs, and passengers in his car Ann Krieger, 36, of Wallkill, who suffered contusions of the face and scalp and possible spinal injuries, and Marie Hahn, 68, of Briehl Sr., 75, also of Wallkill. The summonses for the violations were issued to Corretti, bruises of the scalp and legs.

Right now it's easy to get a great deal on a car you don't want.

Instead, see your Chevrolet dealer. Better you should get a Chevrolet or big Chevrolet. (Any Chevrolet, for that matter, now at year-end savings.) Plus special savings on popular V8's, automatics, power steering, and power disc brakes. You'll get a great deal—of automobile.

If the Impala were any other car in its field, it wouldn't have:

1. As much room inside.
2. As long a body outside.
3. As wide a front and rear tread.
4. Hide-A-Way windshield wipers.
5. An automatic warning buzzer that sounds off if you forget and leave your keys in the car.
6. Flush-and-dry rocker panels to fight rust.
7. As tight a turning diameter.
8. A Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish that keeps its shine.
9. Body by Fisher.
10. A speed warning indicator you can add.
11. A light monitoring system you can order.
12. As low a price for an automatic transmission.
13. As low a price for a V8 convertible or a 4-door hardtop or a V8 station wagon. (Like we say, putting you first keeps us first. See your Chevrolet dealer quick.)

2 Upstate Servicemen Killed in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more upstate New York servicemen have died in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

The Pentagon said Marine Lance Cpl. James T. Randolph of Schenectady, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Meleatus Roe, was killed in action.

Marine Lance Cpl. Frank J. Beltran, the son of Mary Beltran of East Rochester, died in department said.

Economy Measure

May Close Antibomber Batteries

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — As an economy measure, the Army is considering shutting down a number of antibomber missile batteries, Pentagon sources say.

Built at a cost of millions, some sites have been operating 10 years or less.

The proposed action reflects the pressure the services are now under to meet spending cuts ordered by Congress in exchange for passage of President Johnson's 10 per cent income surtax.

The Navy already has gone on the financial chopping block, laying up 50 ships, including a nuclear submarine and a flock of World War II support vessels, and deactivating eight air squadrons to save an estimated $118 million.

The Army was hit earlier with a Defense Department decision to save $125 million by not activating the 6th Infantry Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., as originally planned.

The over-all government spending cuts were originally pegged at $6 billion, a figure that may be revised upward. The Pentagon is expected to account for about half of the amount by slashing almost everything not needed for the war.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said last week the #1 rule in economizing is that "the needs of our forces in Southeast Asia must be provided for fully, without exceptions."

The proposed missile cutback may knock out perhaps a dozen or more Nike-Hercules batteries across the country, sources indicate.

Exactly how many units are to be shut down, and where, is understood to be under consideration in the Pentagon. But at least some are expected to be National Guard outfits.

The Guard has 54 Nike-Hercules firing units in the United States and Hawaii operated under supervision of the Army Air Defense command. The Army has about 70 units of its own, some in Maryland, Ohio, New York, California and elsewhere.

The first Nike-Hercules units became operational only in 1958, assigned to guard against an air attack by nuclear-armed enemy bombers. The 39-foot missile, which can be fitted with an atomic or conventional warhead, is supposed to be able to knock down bombers traveling 2,000 miles per hour.

As was the case with the Navy deactivations last week, the Pentagon will delay announcement of the plan—once it is approved—until congressmen whose states are affected are informed of the action.

Closeout of the missile sites will also mark a further scaling down of the nation's continental air defenses.

Under plans announced last May, the Pentagon next month will shut down 20 air-defense radar squadrons and disband three F101 interceptor squadrons as part of a "phased modernization" program. Now air-defense plans for the Air Force include revamping of the old F106 interceptor and development of a new airborne, downward-viewing radar to detect enemy bombers.

Congress has been cool to the idea of using the 10-year-old F106 to defend against Soviet bombers of the 1970s—and Air Force officials would not be surprised to see F106 funds cut from the 1969 budget by congressional action.

Account Clerk Exam by CS

The Ulster County Civil Service Commission of Kingston recently announced an open-competitive examination for account clerk to fill vacancies in various Ulster County departments and school districts.

The last date for filing applications is Sept. 13 and the examination date is Oct. 19. The salary range in the available Ulster County departments is between $4,070 and $5,234. The school district salaries vary with locations. At present, there is one vacancy in the Social Services Department, one vacancy in the Infirmary Annex, one vacancy in the Community College and one vacancy in the Onteora Central School District.

The list resulting from this examination will also be used for appointment to appropriate vacancies as they occur in all Ulster County offices and school districts excluding the Kingston Consolidated Schools. Candidates must meet the requirements of one of the following groups on or before the examination date: five years of general office experience one year of which devoted to the compilation and maintenance of financial accounts and records; one year of such compilation and maintenance and a high school diploma; or a satisfactory equivalent combination of training and experience.

Friday night, just before dark there will be an exhibition by the Hudson Valley Sky Divers of Gardiner when three divers will leave their plane at about 5,000 feet and free fall for 3,000 feet before opening their parachutes. Saturday night there will be a display of fireworks after dark.

The Friends and Methodist Churches will hold a joint service at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Friends Church with the Rev. Gerald Sutch delivering the sermon.

During the months of July and August the weekly meetings of Boy Scout Troop 171 have taken on the form of an outing. The Scouts traveling to swimming pools or beaches, miniature golf courses, softball fields and other places of outdoor recreation. Three of the Scouts, Thomas Powers, Salvatore Ligatino and Michael Van Kleek while at Camp Tri-Mount were initiated into the Order of the Arrow. Powers was employed in the camp mess hall for a time.

The Rev. Herbert Deitweiler, pastor of the Clintondale Methodist Church is on vacation for the month of August.

Acting Cortland Head
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Richard C. Jones has been named acting president of the State University College at Cortland, effective Sept. 1.

The university's Board of Trustees said Wednesday that Jones, who has been serving as an assistant dean on the university central staff, would serve until a permanent president is named but no later than Feb. 1. Jones replaces Dr. Kenneth E. Young, who resigned to become director of the Washington office of the American College Testing Program.

The Shawnee Indians gave the name of wapiti to the American elk.

Account Clerk Exam by CS

The Ulster County Civil Service Commission of Kingston recently announced an open-competitive examination for account clerk to fill vacancies in various Ulster County departments and school districts.

The last date for filing applications is Sept. 13 and the examination date is Oct. 19. The salary range in the available Ulster County departments is between $4,070 and $5,234. The school district salaries vary with locations. At present, there is one vacancy in the Social Services Department, one vacancy in the Infirmary Annex, one vacancy in the Community College and one vacancy in the Ontario Central School District.

The list resulting from this examination will also be used for appointment to appropriate vacancies as they occur in all Ulster County offices and school districts excluding the Kingston Consolidated Schools. Candidates must meet the requirements of one of the following groups on or before the examination date: five years of general office experience one year of which devoted to the compilation and maintenance of financial accounts and records; one year of such compilation and maintenance and a high school diploma; or a satisfactory equivalent combination of training and experience.

Grocery Chain Records Increase in Earnings

The Grand Union Company had record 1968 first quarter earnings of $2,650,316 for the 13-week period ended June 1, 1968, after provision for depreciation and all taxes including the federal income tax surcharge of 10 per cent, it was reported today by Charles G. Rodman, president of the large food and general merchandise retailing chain.

This represents an increase of 21.3 per cent over earnings of $2,185,121 in the first quarter of 1967 and is the highest first quarter net in the company's 96-year history.

The 1968 first quarter earnings were equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to 41 cents per share on the 6,310,858 shares of common stock outstanding at the close of the period. In 1967, first quarter earnings equaled 35 cents a share on the number of shares then outstanding, after adjusting for a 5 per cent stock dividend distribution in May, 1968.

Grand Union first quarter sales were a record $244,353,234, an increase of 12.8 per cent over sales of $216,595,356 in the comparable quarter a year ago.

The company had 563 retail outlets — 534 Grand Union supermarkets and 29 Grand Way general merchandise discount stores — in operation at the end of the first quarter in 1968. There were 560 stores in operation at the same time in 1967.

Some historians believe Portugal was the ancient country of Lusitania.

Local Store Head Promoted

F. W. Woolworth Co. has announced the promotion and transfer of George H. Manson, manager of the Woolworth store at 311 Wall Street, to the position of general manager of a new Woolco Department store to be opened in Nashua, N. H., in October.

Manson's position as general manager in the New England city will mark the opening of the first unit of the Northeast Division of the Woolworth Company's Woolco stores, which represents the latest in design and facilities.

The new stores will carry a wide selection of merchandise ranging from refrigerators to diamonds and including family fashions, household wares, color TV's, wall to wall carpeting, sporting goods and cameras.

Automotive centers with service repair bays, will sell accessories and tires. Each Woolco store has a Red Grille restaurant seating approximately 110 persons. The Woolco name stands for competitive prices, high quality, national brand merchandise, excellent service and maximum shopping convenience and comfort.

Manson started his career with Woolworth as a stock man in January, 1952. He was promoted to store manager in August, 1954 and served as manager in six different stores before coming to Kingston in January, 1964. He resides in Saugerties with his wife and their six children.

Risko Top Agent

J. H. Risko, general agent for Mutual of Omaha and Companion Life of New York in Poughkeepsie, has one of Mutual of Omaha's top 20 agencies in the country for the first six months of 1968.

The Risko Agency has served the Poughkeepsie area since October of 1957.

Mutual of Omaha is the world's largest individual health insurance company.

NEW BUSINESS—Rainette, Inc., has opened a new plant in Kingston for the manufacture of ladies fashion rainwear for Royal Mist, a division of Russ Togs. Michael Gropuso, president of the firm, said the potential employment of local residents is 100 or more jobs. The plant is located on the third floor of the Trailways Bus Terminal at 14 Pine Grove Avenue. Shown above are—(l-r) Alderman James J. Madden, of the new 9th Ward; Reggie Lowlis, controller and production, Gropuso and Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, who was on hand to greet the new firm officials. (Freeman photo by Haines)

UPTOWN PET SHOP—Grand opening of the Golden Guppy Pet Shop at 259 Fair Street, attracted a large number of area residents. In addition to tropical and all kinds of exotic fish, the new store deals in all types of birds and pets and a variety of supplies and food. Shown at the opening (l-r) George H. Manson, promotion chairman of the Uptown Business Men's Association; Stan London, association president; Jeffrey Lund, proprietor and son of the president of the business, Mrs. Helen Lund, and Stuart Randall, of Safford & Scudder, a director of the uptown association. ## Sears New Catalog Features Finest Attire for Neatniks What's a Neatnik?

It's a new word introduced today in Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s Fall and Winter general catalog, now being distributed in this area and to more than 12 million families across the nation.

A Neatnik, according to the catalog, is defined as a person "who lives in the neat, no-iron world" of permanently pressed fabrics. It's the opposite of a Beatnik.

James W. Button, senior vice president—merchandising, said the new term "symbolizes the revolution that has taken place in wearing apparel and home fashions. We call it the Perma-Prest revolution.

"Demand for permanently pressed fabrics, which Sears calls Perma-Prest, has grown at a fantastic rate and changed an entire industry," Button said. "As a result, we have expanded our catalog selection of this merchandise."

Button said a Neatnik "can be a man who wears Perma-Prest dress shirts, a boy who plays in Perma-Prest jeans, a girl who sleeps on Perma-Prest sheets or a woman who sets her table on a Perma-Prest tablecloth."

Until recently, he pointed out, most clothing and home fashions required ironing—even wash-and-wear fabrics. In 1964 a new process—baking a permanent finish on fabrics—eliminated the need for touch-up ironing. The new process first was used on sport shirts, and now is featured in a wide range of apparel and household items.

Sears catalog, long recognized as a reflection of changing American tastes, features Perma-Prest merchandise on 235 of its 1,682 pages.

The catalog's 140,000 items include these innovations:

—"The Flirt," a cylinder-shaped radio with a compartment for makeup, money and miscellaneous items usually found in a girl's purse.

—A "Spirit of '76" collection of decorating accessories such as lamps and wall plaques, inspired by our nation's patriotic past.

Victory Market Notes Dividend

Directors of Victory Markets, Inc., meeting recently, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents per share payable on Sept. 16 to stockholders of record as of Aug. 21, 1968.

Charles A. Smith, chairman of the Board and treasurer, reported new record sales and earnings. Sales for 30 weeks were $44,062,177.85, an increase of $3,161,920.42, or 7.7 per cent over the same period in 1967. Net earnings are 58.9 per cent over the same period in 1967, despite full provision for the recently enacted 10 per cent Federal income tax surcharge and 27.3 per cent increase in New York State franchise tax.

This will be the 238th dividend and is the 60th consecutive year of continuous dividends for the corporation.

The expansion program of the company is proceeding on schedule. The company plans to open three new Victory supermarkets during the balance of the year 1968. The company is building a 62,000 sq. ft. addition to our warehouse. Additional office space is being constructed to our East Main Street office to accommodate new facilities for our data processing and office expansion. These new facilities are necessary due to our expanding business.

Kirk Appointed

William R. Kirk Jr., has been appointed manager of technical recruiting in the Personnel Department of Hercules Incorporated. Kirk succeeds Dr. Harry A. Turner, who has been manager of technical recruiting since Jan. 1964. Dr. Turner has been named technical superintendent at the Hercules, California, plant.

Vermont is the only New England state that was not part of the original 13 colonies.

Grocery Chain Records Increase in Earnings

The Grand Union Company had record 1968 first quarter earnings of $2,650,316 for the 13-week period ended June 1, 1968, after provision for depreciation and all taxes including the federal income tax surcharge of 10 per cent. It was reported today by Charles G. Radman, president of the large food and general merchandise retailing chain.

This represents an increase of 21.3 per cent over earnings of $2,185,121 in the first quarter of 1967 and is the highest first quarter net in the company's 96-year history.

The 1968 first quarter earnings were equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to 41 cents per share on the 6,310,858 shares of common stock outstanding at the close of the period. In 1967, first quarter earnings equaled 35 cents a share on the number of shares then outstanding, after adjusting for a 5 per cent stock dividend distribution in May, 1968.

Grand Union first quarter sales were a record $244,353,234, an increase of 12.8 per cent over sales of $216,595,356 in the comparable quarter a year ago.

The company had 563 retail outlets — 534 Grand Union supermarkets and 29 Grand Way general merchandise discount stores — in operation at the end of the first quarter in 1968. There were 560 stores in operation at the same time in 1967.

Some historians believe Portugal was the ancient country of Lusitania.

'Pennsylvania Kid' Is King of the Hoboes

BRITT, Iowa (UPI)—The Pennsylvania Kid stood before the convention in this year of political surprises looking like a bum. In spite of it, or rather because of it, he was elected. Clad in filthy coveralls and sporting a heavy dark beard, the Kid sought the support of the 400 delegates on a platform of being the candidate who could bring the most notoriety to this north-central Iowa community of about 2,000 residents.

Atop his head was a raunchy hat festooned with feathers and buttons.

'Pennsylvania Kid' Is King of the Hoboes

BRITT, Iowa (UPI)—"The Pennsylvania Kid" stood before the convention in this year of political surprises looking like a bum. In spite of it, or rather because of it, he was elected. Clad in filthy coveralls and sporting a heavy dark beard, the Kid sought the support of the 400 delegates on a platform of being the candidate who could bring the most notoriety to this north-central Iowa community of about 2,000 residents.

Atop his head was a raunchy hat festooned with feathers and buttons.

It proved to be his crown. For "The Pennsylvania Kid," Richard Wilson, Tuesday was chosen King of the Hoboes. He will reign one year.

Recent Conventions Triggered Breaks in N.Y. Parties

By FRANK H. RICE

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Politics in New York State ain't what it used to be.

There are breaks in the ranks of both Republicans and Democrats that might be directly attributed to the last three presidential nominating conventions.

In 1960 former Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the GOP presidential nomination and got less than enthusiastic support from Governor Rockefeller. Nixon lost to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Four years later Barry Goldwater was the GOP nominee and again Rockefeller sat on the sidelines and again there was dissension within the party.

This year, Nixon staged a comeback to win the nomination, but again it was Rockefeller who opened some old party wounds by opposing Nixon's selection of Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland as his running mate.

The intra-party dissension widened almost immediately. First, Jackie Robinson, a Rockefeller aide, defected to the Democrats and is being warmly welcomed by State Chairman John Burns.

Sen. Jacob Javits added fuel to the fire by remarking that but in politics he might be called a switch-hitter.

There are many segments of the state party that feel the Nixon-Agnew combination is not the best that could have been named.

Governor Rockefeller himself said he was "stunned" by Agnew's selection, but has promised to support both candidates.

The support might be only lukewarm on Rockefeller's part. And the friendship between Rockefeller and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay certainly wasn't helped by the convention.

Robinson bats right-handed

On the Democratic side, the long smouldering feud between President Johnson and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had its effect on New York State politics.

Former Democratic State Chairman William McKeon of Auburn found himself in the middle of that squabble, and now Burns is trying to bring some unity to party ranks.

The national conventions, especially the last two, have raised questions by voters of possible changes, such as a national primary and elimination of conventions altogether.

One voter decried the practice of favorite sons.

"It doesn't mean anything and the practice is time-consuming," he said. "Anyone watching the convention on TV soon gets fed up with listening to candidates who certainly wouldn't get the nomination, and more likely wouldn't want it anyway."

He mentioned Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen.

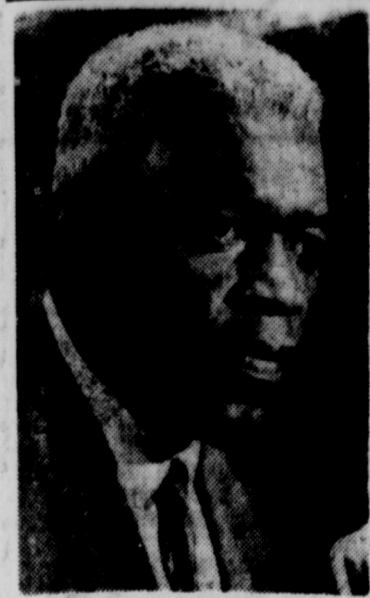

Republican State Chairman Charles Schoenbeck, of Syracuse, like McKeon and Burns, may have to do some mending with his party.

Chicago Guard Is Up

By SHERRY CONOHAN

CHICAGO (UPI)—About 800 National Guardsmen will be on "regularly scheduled drills" each night of the Democratic National Convention.

Security arrangement is for the convention, which opens here in 12 days, provide for these troops to stop drilling near the International Amphitheater, and move into the streets if there are severe racial or antiwar disorders.

Opponents to the Vietnam War predict 30,000 to 40,000 protesters may come to Chicago during the Democratic convention and various groups of hippies, yuppies, and black militants could swell the assembly of dissidents to 100,000, according to some estimates.

In 1956, the last time the Democrats held their nominating convention here, security arrangements were far less stringent than those planned this year.

"The social conditions in the United States are different today than they were in 1956," said Capt. John Kelly, coordinator of security for the Chicago Police Department. Kelly and a contingent of local police, federal agents, and guard officers have met daily for the past week to complete the security plan.

John Meek, Democratic convention coordinator, said the security plan is similar to that in effect last week at the Republican convention in Miami Beach.

The plan provides for the following:

—One battalion of Illinois National Guardsmen, about 800 men, will be on duty each night of the convention holding their regular "drill period" during the hours the convention is in session.

—Chicago police to work 12-hour shifts during the week of the convention.

—Cook County sheriff's police to be available to assist in any major disorder should help be requested by Mayor Richard Daley.

—A 2-136-foot-long chain link fence topped with barbed wire has been erected on the west side of the amphitheater. A vast eight-block-wide area of stockyards, now mostly empty, stretches to the west from the fence, providing a buffer zone.

—Credentials of persons entering the hall will be checked at several checkpoints.

—From 150 to 200 city firemen including experts in explosives and crowd control have been assigned to round-the-clock duty at the amphitheater. At least one fire truck will remain on the premises at all times. A fire station is located just north of the amphitheater.

Miss America Pageant Seeks More Negroes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The Miss America Pageant has turned to the NAACP for help in bringing more Negroes into the pageant, saying the annual beauty spectacle "must embrace all parts of America."

Since it was founded in 1921 no Negro has ever made it into the national finals. Civil rights groups have charged in recent years that the nation's oldest beauty contest is "lily-white."

The pageant released on Wednesday a letter sent July 30 to Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, defending its "long-time policy of no discrimination because of race, color or creed" and explaining that it has no control over the selection of contestants at the local or state levels.

The letter also offered a $1,000 annual scholarship to be used by the NAACP as a start in providing scholarship money to encourage Negro organizations to sponsor contestants.

Each year about 70,000 girls enter 3,500 local pageants, competing for the chance to represent their state in the national finals held here in September. This year there are 40 to 50 Negroes, pageant officials said.

The new Miss American will be crowned in Sept. Although no Negro ever made it into the finals, two came close.

Miss Manhattan, Dorothy Screen, was first runner up in the Miss New York State Pageant, while Miss Oakland, Tanja Dennis, was second runner up in the Miss California Pageant.

The pageant released on Wednesday a letter sent July 30 to Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, defending its "long-time policy of no discrimination because of race, color or creed" and explaining that it has no control over the selection of contestants at the local or state levels.

The letter also offered a $1,000 annual scholarship to be used by the NAACP as a start in providing scholarship money to encourage Negro organizations to sponsor contestants.

Each year about 70,000 girls enter 3,500 local pageants, competing for the chance to represent their state in the national finals held here in September. This year there are 40 to 50 Negroes, pageant officials said.

The new Miss American will be crowned in Sept. Although no Negro ever made it into the finals, two came close.

State Approval

Kingston Hospital Additions

Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner, has made known that the State Health Department has approved the addition of 54 beds, comprising four for coronary care, the same number for post-coronary care, 10 for intensive care and 36 for general care at the Kingston Hospital.

The department also approved the closing of a 22-bed first floor men's ward at the hospital.

Construction of a new 120-bed nursing home in Poughkeepsie also has been approved by the department, Dr. Ingraham said. Eden Park Nursing Home was approved for construction on the recommendation of the executive committee of the State Hospital Review and Planning Council and its regional council, the commissioner noted.

The Committee also recommended that the State Board of Social Welfare give its approval to the Poughkeepsie application. Approval by the Board is required in the formation of new institutions.

Other new White Plains Region projects approved by the Department include:

—United Cerebral Palsy Association of Westchester County, construction of a diagnostic, treatment and outpatient facility building in Rye to serve the handicapped. An affiliation with Burke Rehabilitation Center is planned.

—Earle Nursing Home, Middletown, Orange County, construction of a new 80-bed privately-owned nursing home to replace a 35-bed facility. The new home will be associated with Horton Memorial Hospital.

—Tolstoy Nursing Home, Valley Cottage, Rockland County, construction of 96, rather than the previously authorized 88, beds.

Bevier Case Is Put Over

Sentencing in the case of Louis Bevier, 18, of New Paltz, who entered a plea of guilty to second degree robbery, was adjourned to Wednesday, Aug. 21 at 11 a.m., in county court Wednesday.

Bevier was charged in connection with a Sept. 5, 1967 robbery of a serviceman, Ronald Parلمان of Walden in New Paltz. Bevier was reportedly with another at the time of the incident. Information in the case indicated that the Army man was robbed of his wallet with $40 in cash.

William Pendell, 21, of Franklin Street was brought to court for arraignment on a charge of perjury, second degree; making an apparently sworn false statement in the first degree. Judge Mino assigned Louis Klein as attorney for the defendant and the case was adjourned to Wednesday, Aug. 28 at 11 a.m. He was remanded to county jail.

The case stems from an alleged false statement made by Pendell to Kingston police in December 1967 in which he reportedly implicated two other men in a burglary.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein appeared for the DA's office. Pendell is currently serving 75 days in county jail on a charge of criminal possession of stolen property, third degree. He was sentenced in city court early in August and given credit for time served.

Special Police Meeting Monday

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin announced today that he will again meet with the Township Special Police on Aug. 19 at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

The first-term Republican supervisor said, "At this session, I have arranged for a communications demonstration upon the results of this demonstration, we can then style and tailor a training program around both these groups whereby the township can have a capable 'back up' force for any natural disaster, catastrophe, or similar public emergency."

The supervisor said, "Depend-

Accord Squad Starts Annual Fund Campaign

Wayne Kelder, president, conducted the regular business meeting of the Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad Inc. recently at the Squad Building on Route 209.

The squad captain reported that 31 calls were answered in July which involved the volunteer work of 41 members. Twenty-five victims were transported to the hospital.

Kelder presented Advanced Cards for the Red Cross work-course just completed to Mrs. Augusta Kopp, Robert Bruckner, Edward Bober, Mrs. Marilyn Robinson, Stanley Lawrence, Gary Miller, and Julius Herschowsky. All members' First Aid kits will be inspected at the Aug. 26 meeting. This is a regularly scheduled work and instruction session directed by Vincent Mikalones, director of personnel, and instructor Seymour Pacht.

A course in First Aid will be conducted at the Ulster County Community College campus, Stone Ridge, starting Sept. 16 and continuing each Monday 7-10 p.m. for 14 classes. Only First Aiders holding valid Advanced cards may register for the sessions. Registration may be made any time before Sept. 9. The squad will subsidize half of the fee which is charged for the course.

The annual fund drive under the chairmanship of James Bentivegna Jr. and Joseph Tracanti Jr. has been started with an appeal for funds by mail to all area residents serviced by the squad.

The next regular business meeting of the squad will be held Sept. 9 at 8 p.m. in the squad building.

Synagogue News

Ahavath Israel

Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, is a Conservative Congregation, affiliated with the United Synagogue of America. Its spiritual leader, Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, is a member of the Rabbinical Assembly and the New York Board of Rabbis. Membership in the congregation is open to all Jewish men and women. Those interested in becoming members can contact Sidney Rafalowsky, membership chairman.

Religious services are conducted during the summer Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday 9:30 a.m. Friday evening services are conducted by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, and the liturgy is chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The names of those whose yuhrtzeiten will be observed during the week will be read and the mourner's prayer will be chanted in their memory. Memorial cards as reminders are sent to the nearest of kin to attend the service. Saturday morning services are conducted by the rabbi, who summarizes the Biblical reading of the week, and the liturgy is chanted by Herman Rafalowsky.

The board of directors will hold the regular monthly meeting tonight at 8:30 p.m. The Couples' Club of the congregation will hold a picnic, social and swim party at the JCC campsite Saturday night, Aug. 17.

Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman will speak at the Methodist Camp in High Falls this Thursday, on the subject of Judaism and Christianity.

Venezuela's Angel Falls is about three times higher than the Empire State Building.

California Big Puzzle---Roll Call May Unravel It

By DE VAN L. SHUMWAY
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Populous California, with its big bloc of 174 votes at the Democratic National Convention, is the biggest puzzle in the West. The answer may not be known until the roll call at Chicago later this month.

The California delegation's heart still belongs to the late Robert F. Kennedy, felled by an assassin as he left a victory rally after winning the state's primary.

It still is possible—but only just—that the group could cast a vote in honor of the late New York senator on the first ballot. Or the delegation could split six ways to Sunday.

Vietnam Dove

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, who delights in the use of political power, is leader of California's group. Lately, he has become an outspoken Vietnam dove.

In late July he called for a total cessation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. He said it had become clear a military solution to the war "is not really feasible" and a political solution must be found.

Unruh has been making some concessions to supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. He put co-leaders of the McCarthy campaign in California on the state delegation. What this means is unclear.

Also very much unclear is the extent to which the more dovish of the delegates might gravitate to Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, who announced his "peace" candidacy for the nomination just last week.

McGovern is wooing those who supported Kennedy.

Both McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey have campaigned hard among members of the California delegation.

But a Humphrey strategist in the state reminded a newsman that the vice president never counted on California in his nomination victory blueprints. He did not enter the June 5 primary, although a slate of party regulars favoring him was on the ballot.

Unruh says that if Humphrey wants support of the now uncommitted California group he will have to shed some Johnson administration policies. "He would have to take a position different from the administration on the Vietnam War," says Unruh.

Kennedy's Commitment

The California Democrat says frankly that neither of the two leading candidates fully pleases him because neither has Kennedy's "kind of commitment" to the nation's domestic problems. "The vice president has a great deal of concern over domestic problems and has evidence it over the past year," Unruh says. "But he clearly has no appeal to the young people."

McCarthy has appeal to young voters, Unruh says, but not to the Negro community. Perhaps Unruh put his own personal position best when he replied to a question about whom he expects to support as his party's nominee.

"I really don't know," he said. "I'm not leaning toward anyone; I'm waiting for someone to lean toward me."

Unruh, whose rise to political power came through the legislature and his own organization in Southern California, wants the people—the non-organization Democrats—to play a major role at the convention.

"If the platform is spoon-fed to the convention along with all officers of the convention, the Democratic Party is in for deep trouble this fall," he said. Around the rest of the West, the support is mostly for Humphrey, although the 35-member Oregon delegation was pledged to McCarthy on the first two ballots by the May 28 primary.

State Sen. Edward Fodeley, outgoing state chairman and a McCarthy backer, said he figures McCarthy has a one in four chance for the nomination. "Bookies who give Gene one chance in 10 show they don't have as much political sense as the American people," Fodeley said.

But Oregon's is about the only orderly situation. Neighboring Washington, for example, is divided 33½ for Humphrey, 12½ for McCarthy and 1 undecided.

The nation's most westerly states, Alaska and Hawaii, are split between Humphrey and McCarthy.

William O. Payton, Idaho's delegation chairman, said he felt Humphrey would win simply "because he's the best

Manfro Back In Court for Re-Sentencing

John J. Manfro, 27, of this city, who has been serving time in Clinton Prison, Dannemora on a 1966 burglary charge, was brought to county court Wednesday for re-sentencing following an appeal setting aside the original sentence.

Joseph Avis, appearing for the defendant noted that Manfro has already served 20 months and asked for credit for time served. At re-sentencing County Judge Raymond J. Mino imposed a term of from 4 to 8 years at hard labor in Clinton Prison on the burglary charge; 1 year in county jail on the petit larceny charge, and 2½ to 5 years in Clinton Prison at hard labor on the attempted grand larceny, second degree charge. All terms to run concurrently and credit for time served.

Manfro had originally been sentenced to 5 to 10 years on the burglary count. He was re-sentenced as a first felony offender instead of a second felony offender in accordance with the ruling in his appeal. He was found guilty of all three charges by a jury on April 17, 1967 and was originally sentenced April 26, 1967.

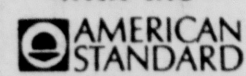

The defendant was found guilty of the charges in the indictment in connection with a burglary of Jessie's gas station, Broadway, this city Nov. 26, 1966.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein appeared for the DA's office.

Draft Resistors Burn Summonses

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Beyer and Cline have lived in the basement of the church since Aug. 7, cooking their meals in the church kitchen and whiling away the hours with a portable television set and some toy rifles and army helmets which they and their supporters use to perform anti-Vietnam skits.

Bruce L. Beyer, 19, of Buffalo, and Bruce R. Cline, 20, of nearby Eden, burned the summonses a few hours after they and five other young men were indicted on draft evasion charges by a federal grand jury in Rochester.

The others indicted were Rev. D. Perkins, 20, and Raymond C. Baughn, 24, both of Buffalo; Gerald C. Waligora, 20, formerly of Buffalo, now a student in Lodz, Poland; Myron Ostapchuk, 22, formerly of Buffalo, now living in Toronto, Canada; and Harry P. Block, 25, formerly of Maspeth, now living in London, England.

Three U.S. marshalls walked through a crowd of chanting demonstrators and entered the Unitarian Universalist Church to hand the summonses to Beyer and Cline, both staff members of the Buffalo Draft Resistance Union.

The pair said they would ignore the summonses, but would not resist arrest.

A marshalls said burning the summonses was not an offense, but that Beyer and Cline would be arrested if they failed to appear in Federal Court here at 10 a.m. Monday as ordered.

The congregation of the church voted 77 to 69 last month to allow draft resistors to take symbolic sanctuary in the building.

Addicts' Deaths Up in Gotham

NEW YORK (AP) — Narcotics addicts are dying in sharply-increasing numbers in New York, the city's chief medical examiner said in a report Wednesday.

Dr. Milton Helpen said the narcotics connected deaths in the first six months of 1968 total 450. There were 670 such deaths in all of 1967.

Dr. Helpen said he believes the increase is simply due to an increase in the number of addicts rather than any unknown medical cause.

He did not, however, rule out the possibility that an unknown virus might contribute to the "acute reaction" that characterizes 90 per cent of the deaths.

"Sometimes they die so fast we find them with the needle still in their arm and the syringe half full," Dr. Helpen said.

He said the common term "overdose" is inaccurate since each addict has a tolerance to heroin which can vary from day to day.

Embezzler Change of Heart; Surrenders $40,000 in Loot

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A well-dressed young man identifying himself as Richard C. Palmer walked into the San Antonio Police Department Wednesday night, handed over a suitcase containing about $40,000 and said he wanted to surrender.

He said he was wanted on a Massachusetts embezzlement charge.

Police Inspector Jack Hutton said Palmer, 28, told him the money came from the Pittsfield, Mass., National Bank. On July 29, the bank reported $60,000 was taken from its bank deposit section.

Officers made hurried arrangements to arraign Palmer before a U.S. commissioner on federal charges so he could be returned to Massachusetts.

"He said he just got to thinking about it while traveling around and decided to turn himself in," Hutton said. He described Palmer as medium built, clean-cut and polite.

Palmer surrendered to Sgt. Richard May and Mack Grill at the Police Department complaint desk.

Hutton said about $40,000 was found in the suitcase. He said Palmer bought an automobile but left it in Springfield, Mass., and left some of the money in the car.

"He said he spent very little of it," Hutton said. "I think most of it will be recovered."

Palmer told officers he had traveled to Chicago and then on to San Antonio before deciding to give up.

Clark Cites Record After Nixon Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has responded to Richard M. Nixon's threat to fire him if elected president by challenging Nixon to say what he means by the phrase "law and order."

In his speech accepting the Republican nomination last week, Nixon said "if we are going to restore order and respect for law in this country, there is one place to begin. We are going to have to have a new attorney general."

"The question is," Clark responded in a news conference Wednesday, "What do we do to bring about order under the law?"

"I think for the people to just repeat the phrase 'law and order' is not to educate anyone on the issues or on what needs to be done," Clark added.

He said it was important for Nixon to make his stance known on these issues, rather than saying "whom he is against."

Within hours after Clark's comments, the Nixon camp fired back from its campaign strategy based in California.

Robert Ellsworth, Nixon's national political director, said Clark's "record of performance in office marks him down as a reluctant warrior in the battle against crime."

Clark, meeting with newsmen in his oak paneled, red carpeted outer office, answered a wide variety of questions ranging from the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States—he defended it—to police pay—he thinks it should be increased.

But Clark dwelt on the acceptance speech by Nixon, publicly answering it for the first time.

Nixon, Clark said, attacked "personalities rather than principles."

The attorney general set forth some of his own principles and wondered aloud where Nixon stood on them.

He checked off his support of gun control legislation, including registration and licensing; stressed the need for a "professionalization" within a police force; voiced concern for mental health and alcoholism problems; remarked on the need for increased attention to juvenile delinquency; and urged a major boost in spending in the areas of prisons, probation and parole.

"I was interested in his (Nixon's) remarks about organized crime. It would seem that the Republicans are trying to make this their thing," Clark said.

He accused the most recent Republican administration during its eight years in power of "doing nothing" about organized crime.

In 1960, he said, 17 federal indictments were returned under plans are being made to head off potential violence outside the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Clark emphasized, however, he did not expect any disorders.

Trust Fund Effort

Lloyd Approves 'Mercy Mission'

By JON POWERS

The Lloyd Town Board last night unanimously approved the efforts of three Poughkeepsie women who are attempting to set up a trust fund for Kathy Mackey, 27, of Clearwater Road in Highland, who is scheduled to undergo a complicated kidney transplant operation this fall.

Arranging Day

Julia Nucci, Connie DeFelise and Connie Antonakas — all of Poughkeepsie are asking for donations from local industries and individual contributions to help pay for the cost of the operation. The three women appeared before the Lloyd board last night, outlined their intentions, and received unanimous support in their efforts. Preliminary plans are now underway for the establishment of a Kathy Mackey Day in Highland, with all proceeds going towards the Trust Fund. To date, several Poughkeepsie firms have set up efforts and trust funds for Miss Mackey and Miss Antonakas—the originator of the trust fund—has announced that a series of bake sales will be held in the Highland and Poughkeepsie areas to complement the woman with an artificial kidney. Those plans were put off, however, when another lady only one kidney since she was told surgeons that she was willing to donate one of her kidneys failed and plans were made to supply the Highland Mackey is currently waiting in a Bronx hospital for the operation. In other topics discussed at last night's board meeting, it was announced that installation of water meters in Highland residences is almost completed. The project, being undertaken by the Spinneweber Contracting firm, marks the first time that meters have been used in the Highland area.

SEEING DOUBLE? — Oops! Think you're seeing double? Well, you are. The liner SS France carries a replica of the Statue of Liberty on its bow as the ship passes the original in New York Wednesday. The 40-foot replica, constructed of polyester over an iron framework and base, is being brought to the United States for a scene in the forthcoming film, "The Brain." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Emergency Employees Will Go On New Paltz Town Payroll

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

The Town of New Paltz last night resolved to become the single employer of the workers who man the emergency communications center.

The action, passed unanimously, was taken to meet the requirements of social security payments and insurance outlays.

It was also announced at last night's regular board meeting that Town Clerk Theodore Lasher donated three acres of land along Jansen Road to the town.

In exchange for the outright gift, members of the board resolved to aid the clerk in relocating his driveway approximately 100 feet east of the present drive which is now blocked by construction work.

The board listened to a plea made by Kenneth Skelton of Woodland Drive, south of the village, requesting the officials to do something about a dog problem which, Skelton claimed, has existed for "four years." Supervisor Anthony Moriello said that Skelton's plea "was the first formal protest to date" that was brought before the board and he assured action on the problem.

Francis "Bud" Connelly, chairman of the park advisory committee, gave a report on the recreational possibilities at the town's sanitary land fill on Pioneer Trail.

Connelly said that two baseball fields had already been marked out and that the land was suitable for "trail bike" motorcycle runs and ski mobile trails.

Supervisor Moriello also said that the 40 acres of land that had been deeded to the town in April was equally suitable for hiking and horse riding trails.

The newly acquired 40 acres had been added to an original 96 acres purchased by the town in 1960.

The April purchase is isolated from the dump site and contains 1,500 feet of frontage on Route 32.

The town approved the selection of Democratic inspectors for the general election in November.

A list of the inspectors for the town's eight election districts was submitted by Democratic Town Chairman Fred Brough and Ulster County Democratic Chairman Dr. Gerald P. Gorman.

Kingston Man Is Indicted by Dutchess Jury

A Dutchess County grand jury has indicted James J. Messa, 28, of 349 Clinton Avenue, on charges of second degree forgery, third degree grand larceny and petit larceny, according to reports from Poughkeepsie.

The indictment alleges that Messa obtained $109.24 worth of tires in one transaction and $42.92 worth of merchandise in another last May 28 and 29. It was reported the defendant used forged gasoline credit cards.

Cable TV Moving to Port Ewen

Kingston Cablevision, Inc., will move its entire operation, including business office, to its site, it was announced today by William S. Krajci, general manager. The move from 2 Jansen Avenue will take place this weekend, with the new office scheduled to open for business Monday.

Krajci described the move as the second step in his plans to bring better service to Cablevision customers. The first was the installation of the new parabolic antenna array and master control equipment now nearing completion.

With the entire office and technical operation functioning from one location, a maximum of efficiency will be possible in servicing the system "from headend master control right to the customers' TV sets," Mr. Krajci said. A complete monitoring system will be utilized.

Payments may be made at the new office, by mail, or at the Kingston Trust Co., or the Rondout National Bank or their branches.

Dedication and open house at the new headend site will take place at a date to be announced. Plans call for the addition of new channels and expansion of the system to areas not presently served.

Krajci noted that during the final work on the project it will become necessary from time to time to remove certain channels from the system temporarily for testing. Also during the testing period it may at times be possible that additional channels may be seen temporarily on presently unused TV set channels while these are being tested.

"Knowing that the ultimate result will be a better signal and greater choice of channels, we hope our customers will bear with us during these necessary tests and adjustments," Krajci said.

Mohawk Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Mohawk Airlines says it lost $602,229 for the six months ended June 30 and attributed much of it to heavy air and ground traffic. The regional carrier said Wednesday operating expenses due to air and ground congestion cost it $165,000 in June and $250,000 in July.

In 1967 in the similar six-month period the airline reported losses of $125,498.

Revenues during the 1968 period rose to $25,772,774, compared to $20,818,326 in 1967, the airline said.

Czech Movies Reflect Liberalization Trend

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Recent Czechoslovak movies seen in the United States reflect the liberalization of the Prague Communist regime which has angered the Soviet Union and much of its European bloc.

The films, increasingly popular here, have contained a high degree of innovation and have tended to stress irony and humor in their handling of contemporary problems of everyday life.

They frequently have poked fun at the Communist party line and have played more on the frustrations brought about by Red policy rather than on its "accomplishments."

This is a far cry from the "socialist realism"—the idealization of life in Communist lands—which is the official dogma of the Kremlin.

Prime example of the "new" type of Czech film was "Closely Watched Trains," which won an Academy Award as best foreign language film last year. The tragicomic tells a story of a young boy's sexual coming of age and takes place at a small railroad station during World War II.

Earlier this year, the magazine Soviet Culture, organ of the Soviet Ministry of Culture, singled out "Closely Watched Trains" as an example of a "negative" approach to communism. It called the movie a "retreat from the traditions of realism" and said it "ignored the people's values."

The film was written and directed by 31-year-old Jiri Menzel, who also plays a role in the movie.

The year before, American audiences took to "The Shop on Main Street," which became the first East European film to win an Oscar. It is about the friendship between an old Jewish woman shopkeeper and an "Ar-

For that film, Kios was asked what was behind the burgeoning Czech film industry of the past few years.

"It is because of the new cultural atmosphere that began about four years ago," he said then. "Since that time, 20 new, talented directors have graduated from the (film) academy and they are doing exciting things."

Kadar added: "Our country always has been superior in cartoons and puppet films. The freedoms we have enjoyed in the past few years has allowed us to catch up in other kinds of films. We have no supervision in the making of movies. There may be controversy after the film is made, but we have the freedom to make it."

Interviews and Processing For the Rondout 'Seniors'

Interviews and the processing of applications for the admission of the Senior Citizens portion of the Rondout Gardens is currently in progress according to Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Kingston Housing Authority. Yosman said that in view of the expected completion of the Senior Citizen portion of the development by Oct. 1, letters have been mailed to all persons, Senior Citizen or otherwise, who have filed for Public Housing in the past, in order to bring their applications up to date. Yosman advised that any person who has filed previously who did not receive a letter to please contact the Kingston Housing Authority.

Yosman said that all persons residing or previously resided in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Area who are eligible for public housing will have first priority for admission. However, any resident of Kingston in need of housing is urged to file. Applications may be obtained from the KHA office, Flatbush Avenue.

Yosman advised that a series of meetings have been held with the Housing Assistance Administration in relation to problems encountered in the construction of the remaining portion of the development and that a completion date for this remainder will be determined shortly. The development has been delayed because of adverse sub-soil conditions as well as many other problems.

Final Dog Show Winners Listed

At Loughran Park, Sean Troy's Hans took first place as Best Costumed Dog. First prize for Best Trick Dog went to Sheila Decker's Pepe. First spot for Smallest Dog went to Sean Troy with Hans, and Doreen Day with Casey took first in the Largest Dog class. The Best Groomed Dog in the show was Gretchen owned by Suzan Kuhn. The Best-of-Show winner was Doreen Day's Casey.

At Hasbrouck Park, the five winners were: Beverly Grommel, Billy Leverenze, Pete Wenzel, Kirk Dreiser, and Sue Sapp.

A. It provides two features in your mattress you won't find in the vast majority of innersprings available — a "Supple Surface" and Automatic Adjustment to Weight. You get a "Supple Surface" to flex freely to your body weight and movements because the design permits hinging the coils together instead of knotting them. ## Interviews and Processing For the Rondout 'Seniors'

Interviews and the processing of applications for the admission to the Senior Citizens portion of Rondout Gardens is currently in progress according to Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Kingston Housing Authority. Yosman said that in view of the expected completion of the Senior Citizen portion of the development by Oct. 1, letters have been mailed to all persons, Senior Citizen or otherwise, who have filed for Public Housing in the past, in order to bring their applications up to date. Yosman advised that any person who has filed previously who did not receive a letter to please contact the Kingston Housing Authority.

Yosman said that all persons residing or previously resided in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Area who are eligible for public housing will have first priority for admission. However, any resident of Kingston in need of housing is urged to file. Applications may be obtained from the KHA office, Flatbush Avenue.

Yosman advised that a series of meetings have been held with the Housing Assistance Administration in relation to problems encountered in the construction of the remaining portion of the development and that a completion date for this remainder will be determined shortly. The development has been delayed because of adverse sub-soil conditions as well as many other problems.

Final Dog Show Winners Listed

At Loughran Park, Sean Troy's Hans took first place as Best Stomped Dog. First prize for Best Trick Dog went to Sheila Decker's Pepe. First spot for Smallest Dog went to Sean Troy with Hans, and Doreen Day with Casey took first in the Largest Dog class. The Best Groomed Dog in the show was Gretchen owned by Susan Kuhn. The Best-of-Show winner was Doreen Day's Casey.

At Hasbrouck Park, the five winners were: Beverly Grommel, Billy Leverenz, Pete Wenzel, Kirk Dreiser, and Sue Sapp.

Czech Movies Reflect Liberalization Trend

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Recent Czechoslovak movies seen in the United States reflect the liberalization of the Prague Communist regime which has angered the Soviet Union and much of its European bloc.

The films, increasingly popular here, have contained a high degree of innovation and have tended to stress irony and humor in their handling of contemporary problems of everyday life.

They frequently have poked fun at the Communist party line and have played more on the frustrations brought about by Red policy rather than on its "accomplishments."

This is a far cry from the "socialist realism"—the idealization of life in Communist lands—which is the official dogma of the Kremlin.

Prime example of the "new" type of Czech film was "Closely Watched Trains," which won an Academy Award as best foreign language film last year. The tragicomic tells a story of a young boy's sexual coming of age and takes place at a small railroad station during World War II.

Earlier this year, the magazine Soviet Culture, organ of the Soviet Ministry of Culture, singled out "Closely Watched Trains" as an example of a "negative" approach to communism. It called the movie a "retreat from the traditions of realism" and said it "ignored the people's values."

The film was written and directed by 31-year-old Jiri Menzel, who also plays a role in the movie.

The year before, American audiences took to "The Shop on Main Street," which became the first East European film to win an Oscar. It is about the friendship between an old Jewish woman shopkeeper and an "Aryan" Czech assigned to take over her business during the Nazi occupation.

It has grossed more than $3 million in the U.S. market—adding a realistic reason to the political one that has kept the Czech government from any movie pre-censorship.

It was codirected by Jan Kadar and Elmar Klos, two highly respected filmmakers in the state-run industry.

In an Associated Press interview after accepting the Oscar for that film, Klos was asked what was behind the burgeoning Czech film industry of the past few years.

"It is because of the new cultural atmosphere that began about four years ago," he said. "Since that time, 20 new, talented directors have graduated from the (film) academy and they are doing exciting things."

Kadar added: "Our country always has been superior in cartoons and puppet films. The freedoms we have enjoyed in the past few years has allowed us to catch up in other kinds of films. We have no supervision in the making of movies. There may be controversy after the film is made, but we have the freedom to make it."

Teachers and Pupils

The School Bells May Go Unheeded

By GENE BERNHARDT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—School bells may go unheeded by thousands of teachers and pupils across the nation next month.

According to the two giant teachers unions, the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers, present conditions portended as many as 400 elementary and high school teachers strikes this school year, more than three times the record 126 walkouts of last year.

Spokesmen for the two groups said there is "a strong possibility" of strikes at the opening of school next month in St. Louis, Philadelphia, East St. Louis, Ill., New Orleans and Wilmington, Del.

In addition, the NEA said 35 suburban area schools in Michigan, mainly near Detroit, face the same strike threat along with isolated rural districts in Colorado, Oklahoma, Idaho, New Hampshire and South Dakota.

"We anticipate there will be about 50 strikes when school starts with another 300 to 350 spread throughout the rest of the school year," the NEA spokesman said.

Neither the AFT or NEA could estimate the number of teachers and students affected except to say it would run into the tens of thousands.

Sixteen states have, since 1959, written laws giving teachers some form of collective bargaining.

The NEA, with its 1.2 million members, said nearly 80 percent, or 643,268 teachers, have won bargaining recognition contracts from local school boards and the AFT, with 164,000 members, said 100,000 of its members are under a contract arrangement.

The AFT, which is affiliated with the AFT-CIO, has a policy of "no contract, no work" which touched off scores of last year's strikes. The NEA is not affiliated with other labor groups.

As restless young teachers started signing up in growing numbers with the more aggressive AFT, the NEA started taking a tough stand, calling its operation of the school system members out on strike in record numbers last year.

The NEA formerly relied on education they deserve," said an NEA spokesman.

The whole militant tone of society today, with the civil rights and peace protests, is reflected in teaching," he said.

"They're protesting against outdated, even condemned AFT said that is only one reason and in some cases not the major reason for a strike, that was devised years ago to serve rural needs."

RECUPERATION SAIL — Elizabeth Taylor and her husband Richard Burton board boat train at Waterloo Station in London, for Southampton where they will join the 'Queen Elizabeth' and sail to New York. The voyage will be part of Miss Taylor's recuperation from her recent operation and she will also have talks in U.S.A. regarding future films. (UPI CABLEPHOTO DIRECT FROM LONDON).

The NEA formerly relied on sanctions which merely urged teachers not to work in certain school districts or even an entire state.

The most publicized factor in a teacher strike is the salary issue, but both the NEA and AFT said that is only one reason and in some cases not the major reason for a strike. "Teachers want a voice in the

Statistics Indicate That Today Man Is the Frailer Sex

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Today, the myth of the frailer sex—woman—has been pretty well exploded. Instead, statistics indicate that man is the frailer, more prone to crippling or killing ailments or accidents.

More men than women die of heart disease. More men than women have ulcers. More men die of tuberculosis, of cirrhosis of the liver. More men have fatal accidents. More men commit suicide.

Biologically, women are apt to outlast their husbands in 60 out of every 100 cases where they are the same age. The women have a six-year margin on the life span.

But a wise wife can cut down this margin by a few years or may at least postpone those lonely years of widowhood. It takes some doing, in these days when almost all of us are subject to high pressure living.

Some suggestions come in the current "Health News," a publication of the New York State Health Department, which bluntly titles an article "How to Keep From Being a Widow."

A great deal of men's heart troubles show up in the middle years, particularly among men who drive themselves without respect for their hearts or blood pressure. These men live hypertensive lives, doing everything with gusto, including eating, drinking and smoking too much, working too hard. Where does the wife help relieve these pressures? Cushion him as much as possible about the pressures of business. Help him to relax at home. In turn, though, if you add to his tension by demanding more activity, urging him to make more money, you may be laying on the last straw, says the article's author, Lorraine B. Maloy.

Attention to his diet is probably the first step a woman should take. Check with your physician on the proper weight for your husband, considering his age and activity. Only a physician familiar with the patient should prescribe a diet and the fact that it is outlined for him by a professional may help him to hold in and reduce the waistline.

It is better to forego his praise of hot biscuits or blueberry pie in order to get his waistline back to where it was when you met him. Your own cooking habits may have to be changed drastically.

Smoking long has been known as a factor contributing to hypertension and heart disease.

One of the recent findings of New York State's Cardiovascular Health Center at Albany Medical Center was that men who smoke a pack of cigarettes a day, or more, are nearly twice as apt to develop coronary heart disease as non-smokers of the same age.

About the proneness to accidents. Emotional upsets, even though they may be caused by trivial things, can contribute to accidents—another brand of widow-maker. It may call for being a superwoman, but you can help insure your husband's safety in driving, perhaps in use of heavy equipment by sending him off to work in a good frame of mind. The male needs a bit of coddling.

Show 'Biz' Veteran at Age 6

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Britt, who spends a lot of time climbing trees, is also climbing the ladder to success as a country-style singer. But Steve won't be deserting his favorite outdoor sport for awhile yet, no matter how famous he becomes. He's only 6 years old.

In show business since the age of 3, Steve recently had his first phonograph record released by United Artists here.

It all started in Japan, where his father, a sergeant in the Air Force, was stationed. The youngster saw a movie featuring Hank Williams and decided that kind of singing was for him. Every morning after that, before going out to play, he insisted that his mother turn on a Hank Williams record; he would strum his small guitar and sing along.

When his father was transferred to Pope Air Force Base in North Carolina the family settled down in Fayetteville and little Steve entered a Pope talent show, where he was a great hit.

Performs Before 4,500 After that he started appearing on television variety shows in the area, on charity telethons and on country music shows, including one in Columbia, S.C., before an audience of 4,500.

By that time he had reached the ripe age of 5 and was a guest on shows farther from home, including some in New York. It was in a later appearance on a local New York TV program that a United Artists official saw the young performer and signed him. On his first record he sings "Let Me In" and "These Boots Are Made for Walking."

Son of Sgt. and Mrs. Bobby Britt, Steve has an older brother, 9-year-old Gary. His mother, who works full time as a secretary at Fort Bragg, N.C. drives him to his appearances, scheduling her vacations and days off to fit in with his plans. They have driven to New York from North Carolina four times within the past year.

"If he didn't love it so much I wouldn't do it," admits the energetic, youthful Mrs. Britt. "If I had to do it over I'm not sure I would, but he is so thrilled by it all I can't deny him the experience."

In Second Grade Steve, who will be in the second grade next year, easily memorizes the words to all the songs he sings. Despite his exposure to the spotlight he's still a little boy with hair cut in bangs who answers questions with a polite "Yes, ma'am."

"In the daytime he's all boy," his mother says, "playing and climbing trees, but at night instead of watching television he likes to listen to records and sing."

Steve enjoys looking at himself on taped television shows, and says he prefers that medium to radio or live audiences. "Everybody can see me on television," he notes with enthusiasm.

CONVENIENCE FOODS feed shows that beef marketings during August through October should be 5 to 10 per cent greater than a year earlier. Pork marketings will soon start to increase seasonally from the recent low point for the year. The supply this summer and fall will be about the same as a year ago. It is doubtful if this will bring significant price reductions in retail meat cuts. Demand for meat will be strong as consumer incomes continue to rise as well as the population. Then, too, prices generally are rising throughout the economy. Broilers and turkeys remain good choices.

Eggs—Egg production during the next several months is expected to decline because of smaller laying flocks. Retail prices are rising and will average higher in the next few months. Still, eggs are giving good value for the money.

Fishery Products—Large supplies of fishery products are reported in New York markets. Shoppers can look for plenty of bluefish, butterfish, cod, flounder, halibut, mackerel, salmon, red snappers, swordfish, tuna, and whiting. Shrimp receipts continue to increase. Other selections among shellfish include hard and soft clams, hard crabs, lobsters, and sea scallops.

Fruits and Vegetables—Liberal shipments of fruits and vegetables are reported, mostly from nearby growing areas. Cabbage, celery, sweet corn, endive, escarole, iceberg and Romaine lettuce, miscellaneous greens, potatoes, onions, squash, and tomatoes are low cost choices.

Sardines anyone? The sardine has been an important food for man for centuries. Records of sardine fishing in Europe date back as far as 495 A.D. The sardine is a small, immature herring. When America was first settled, the colonists found Indians taking herring in brush weirs or traps. Today, herring sardines are commercially canned only in Maine and New Brunswick, Canada. And Maine's canneries pack about half the sardines eaten in the United States. Sardines are a good source of protein, minerals, and vitamins. The scales are used in making artificial pearls, cosmetics and lacquers.

CONVENIENCE FOODS

Convenience foods continue to gain in popularity with American consumers, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. The United States Department of Agriculture has compared the use and money value of 32 convenience foods over a 10-year period. The money value of the convenience foods was up 34 per cent for all households in the country during the 10 years. But, surprisingly, low income households increased their use of the 32 convenience foods by 47 per cent compared with only a 28 per cent gain for high income households. Some of the convenience foods showing big increases during the 10 years were fruit juices, powdered fruit ades, dehydrated soups, canned condensed soups, ready-to-eat breakfast cereals, and instant coffee.

Guide for Weekend Food Buys Here And Across Nation

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. DA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that poultry and meat, several fresh vegetables, and some fresh fruit are in good supply in food stores and supermarkets for weekend shoppers.

Heading the list of the most abundant meats are broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys. Beef roasts and steaks and ground beef are in the abundant class in most areas. Bacon and hams are pork products in best supply, followed by chops and smoked picnics. Fish fillets and halibut steaks are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of Interior.

Onions, potatoes, lettuce, corn, cabbage, tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, squash, and peppers should be abundantly available in all areas. Watermelons, bananas, cantaloupes, and grapes are in abundant supply in most areas. Nectarines and plums are in good supply in some areas.

Now let's take a closer look at food supplies in this area:

Northeast (Delaware, District of Columbia, New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia):

Northeast food shoppers will find a pretty good variety of beef, lamb and pork generously offered this weekend. In beef, round and boneless chuck roasts, all kinds of steaks including porterhouse and chuck, ground beef, and fresh briskets of beef will be featured.

Also abundant will be lamb legs and a variety of lamb chops.

In poultry lines, fryers and broilers, and turkeys will be available.

There will be very little veal. Abundant in produce will be cabbage, carrots, celery, corn, eggplant, endive-escarole, hostons, potatoes, radishes, squash, tomatoes, peppers, and miscellaneous greens.

the bath that Cleopatra loved for beauty's sake.
It was only natural, then, that when Miss Wagner went into cosmetics manufacture she should use some of the familiar products to feed the epidermis as well as the innards.
"At last," she said, "You can eat the product that goes on the face."

Miss Wagner is proud of what she calls the purity of beauty aids which use among other items soybean, olive and vegetables including that avocado. Only a non-alcoholic preservative is added.
This woman, who calls herself a naturopath, is her own best representative for her cosmetics claim.

Her age? She won't tell — "years aren't important. We all start to age from the time we're born." But you can pretty well guesstimate when you hear that she has a son of 35 and three grandchildren. Her first husband is deceased and she now is the wife of Walter Drew, who's an executive with her Los Angeles-based firm.

Miss Wagner was born in New Orleans, the daughter of a surgeon, and studied at Sophie Newcomb College, where she majored in physical education.

Her original intention was to become a pharmacist, but those were the years of the Great Depression and instead she took a sales and promotion job with the cosmetics firm of Harriet Hubbard Ayer.

She also began to read into and research the world of cosmetics, the role of foods in health and beauty—"I was preaching vitamins when a lot of people couldn't even spell the word."

In the 1940's, after jobs with the Elizabeth Arden and Jacqueline Cochran cosmetics firms, she struck out on her own. When she began manufacture of a line that consists of most standard beauty aids, she put pharmacists instead of chemists at the head of product research and development. And she began to lecture cross-country on some of her health and beauty theories.

Murphy Sets Woodstock Record With 61

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

WOODSTOCK—The hottest player on the Eastern New York Golf Association circuit scorched the Woodstock Country Club fairways with an all-time record Wednesday.

Charlie Murphy Jr., a Siena College graduate who plays out of Pine Haven, shaved two strokes off the course record with a blistering 9-under-par 61.

Rolling to his sixth victory of the season in the ENYGA, Murphy carded five birdies, two eagles and 11 pars to eclipse a record established by a touring PGA pro—Joe Zarhardt of Greensboro, N. C. in the 1930s.

Murphy, who will be in the Woodstock Open Friday, narrowly missed four eagles and a fantastic "59." On the par-5, 473-yard fifth hole, he rimmed the cup on eagle putts from 8 and 4 feet.

Drives No. 8 Twice

Twice he drove the 295-yard, par-4, eighth hole. The first time around his booming tee shot landed eight feet from the cup and he rolled the putt in.

Basketball Game Set at Saugerties

In the opener, teams from the Jack Donohue summer camp will clash in the championship finals. The second game pits the professional staff of the camp against an all-star team.

On his second swing around the picturesque nine-hole layout, Murphy just missed the green on his drive and chipped in from 30 feet for his eagle-2.

After matching par figures on the first four holes, Murphy launched his record-breaking assault on par with a birdie-4 on No. 5 where he just missed his first eagle. The first eagle dropped on No. 8 and he parred the 195-yard No. 9 to make the turn in 32.

The back-nine 29 which ties a record held by Armand and Jim Farina, started with a 15-foot birdie on No. 12 (3). He picked up his par on the No. 13 (4) 165-yard water hole, then proceeded to luster three birdies and an eagle in the next four holes.

Murphy rallied from the near-miss eagle on No. 14 (5) for his birdie-4.

"That one really shook me up," he said later. "It was one of the easiest putts I had all day but I blew it."

Undaunted, the Albany State-bound collegian canned successive 10-footers for birdies on No. 15 and 16, then unloaded the big tee shot and chipped 30 feet for his second eagle of the day on No. 17 (8).

A routine par-3 on the demanding finishing hole rounded out the most fantastic round in Woodstock Country Club history.

Murphy, who was recently

crowned the Eastern New York Golf Association champion at Stamford, has won six ENYGA events and tied for first in two others in 11 tournaments this season. He plays out of the Pinehaven Golf Club at Guiderlands, near Albany.

The long-hitting youngster won at Red Hook, Hoosick Falls, Berkshire Hills, Edison, Battenskill, before his Woodstock triumph. He tied for first at Rutland and Columbia. The long-hitting youngster plans to seek a Masters degree in Economics at Albany State University. He plays to a 1-handicap.

Has Six Stroke Lead

Murphy's blistering 61 gave him a six-stroke margin over his playing partner, Dick Sauers, also of Pinehaven, and George Cosenza of Wiltwyck Country Club, who turned in the finest performance of his ENYGA career.

The amateur course record of 63 is shared by four area amateurs and a Woodstock golfer in the pre-war period. Judson Phillips first set the mark in the 1930s.

George Hughes, perennial Twaalfskill champion, equalled the mark in the first Herdegen Memorial tournament in 1951. He missed a chance to break it when he exploded weakly from the No. 9 bunker on the last hole of 54-hole inaugural Herdegen tournament.

The "63" was later tied by stickout Ulster County amateurs

as Bill Van Aken and William (Buzzy) Costello, both of whom won the Woodstock Open and Eastern Amateur, along with Ron Mahood, the Westchesterite who won the 1967 Woodstock Open.

Major Confrontation

Murphy's phenomenal performance sets the stage for a dramatic confrontation between him and veteran Toby Lyons in Friday's Woodstock Open.

An even greater golf spectacle would have been in store for the fans, if Toby's son, Dennis Lyons, was in the field. The brilliant youngster, with back-to-back victories in the Connecticut and Westchester Opens, is in Virginia for the Eastern Amateur, along with Ron Mahood, the Westchesterite who won the 1967 Woodstock Open.

Lyons, one of the truly fine short game artists in the OGA ranks, is always the man to beat. But Murphy, riding the crest of his magnificent performance today, must be rated even favorite for the coveted crown which will be sought by a field of more than 60 of the best pros and amateurs in the Northeastern section.

Watch Lyons, Murphy In Woodstock Open

WOODSTOCK—A crack field of 27 pros and 45 amateurs will be chasing Toby Lyons, the par-busting Greenwich, Conn., pro and Charlie Murphy, the brand new record holder in the annual 27-hole Woodstock Open here Friday.

Murphy, 1968 sensation of the Eastern New York Golf Association circuit, set a new course record with a 9-under-par Wednesday.

Lyons, the 1966 winner, has been consistently in the top three since he started playing in the event in 1965. In his first year, he placed third with 104.

The next year, Lyons led the field with a 98, one under the all-time record of 97 set by Jim Farina in 1948. Last year, Lyons was in the top five.

Ron Mahood, the 1967 Westchester County Amateur champion, who captured the 1967 Open in a playoff with amateur Mark Farina of Schenectady and veteran pro, Ian (Scotty) Robertson of Wiltwyck, will not be on hand to defend his title. He is competing in the Eastern Amateur in Virginia.

Hutchins Rated Highly

Those who like to buck the odds figure Jim Hutchins may break a long-standing jinx and chalk one up for the home. The Woodstock veteran has shared a tie and won outright in his last two Northeastern PGA tournaments.

Other top ranking favorites who will be on hand include Kingston veterans, Alex Gerlak and Scotty Robertson; Armand Farina of Schenectady, a five-time winner; his brother, Jim, who holds the tournament record.

Al Stein, highly rated Glens Falls pro, is rated a strong threat, along with Marty Czwaikel of Normanside and Fred Lux of Dutchess, a consistent high finisher in the 27-hole classic.

Billows in Field

Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, who won several New York State Amateur titles, heads a powerful amateur contingent that includes two former Open champions—Bill Van Aken of the host club and Clint Traver of Columbia. Other past amateur winners include William (Buzzy) Costello and Sig Makofski of Schenectady.

Wiltwyck's famed one-two punch of Leon Randall and Harvey Bostic will play, along with Eddie Byman, the 1968 New York State Jaycees champion. Bill Odeneal of New Paltz and Fred Lux Jr. of Dutchess are also highly rated.

Robinson's Batting Spurs Yankees Win

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Bill Robinson homered into the left field corner with one out in the fifth inning to ignite the New York Yankees to a 5-2 victory Wednesday night and a sweep of their three-game series with the California Angels.

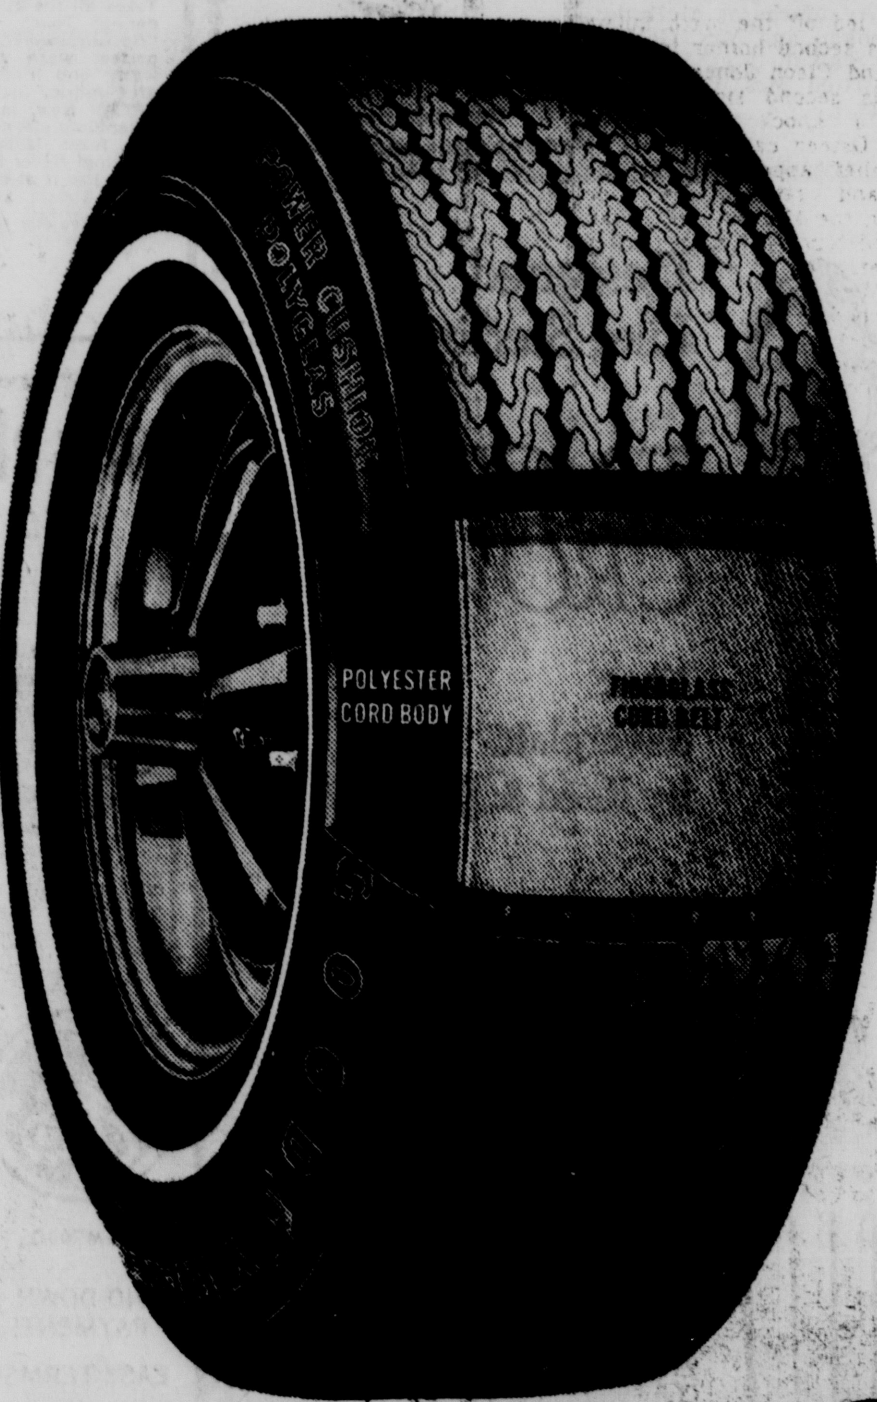

Robinson, who left the game in the sixth inning with a strained hamstring muscle, also collected a single as the Yankees rang up seven hits against five Angel pitchers. Robinson scored two of the New York runs.

After Robinson's third homer of the season broke a scoreless tie between starting pitchers Stan Bahnsen of New York and Tom Murphy of California, Bob Cox and Horace Clarke singled. Cox scored when Bahnsen hit into a fielder's choice.

The Yankees made it 5-0 with three runs in the sixth inning. Mickey Mantle walked, moved to second on Roy White's infield out and came home on Joe

Watch Lyons, Murphy In Woodstock Open

WOODSTOCK—A crack field of 27 pros and 45 amateurs will be chasing Toby Lyons, the par-busting Greenwich, Conn., pro and Charlie Murphy, the brand new record holder in the annual 27-hole Woodstock Open here Friday.

Murphy, 1968 sensation of the Eastern New York Golf Association circuit, set a new course record with a 9-under-par Wednesday.

Lyons, the 1966 winner, has been consistently in the top three since he started playing in the event in 1965. In his first year, he placed third with 104.

The next year, Lyons led the field with a 98, one under the all-time record of 97 set by Jim Farina in 1948. Last year, Lyons was in the top five.

Ron Mahood, the 1967 Westchester County Amateur champion, who captured the 1967 Open in a playoff with amateur Mark Farina of Schenectady and veteran pro, Ian (Scotty) Robertson of Witwyck, will not be on hand to defend his title. He is competing in the Eastern Amateur in Virginia.

Hutchins Rated Highly
Those who like to buck the odds figure Jim Hutchins may break a long-standing jinx and chalk one up for the home. The Woodstock veteran has shared a tie and won outright in his last two Northeastern PGA tournaments.

Other top ranking favorites who will be on hand include Kingston veterans, Alex Gerlak and Scotty Robertson; Armand Farina of Schenectady, a five-time winner; his brother, Jim, who holds the tournament record.

Al Stein, highly rated Glens Falls pro, is rated a strong threat, along with Marty Czaikel of Normanside and Fred Lux of Dutchess, a consistent high finisher in the 27-hole classic.

Claude Young, the durable Winding Brook pro, heads the Old Guard contingent that lists Bill Gressick of Catskill, John Gauca, the Northeastern secretary Bob Smith of Wolferts Roost and Jim Murray of Amsterdam.

Billows in Field
Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, who won several New York State Amateur titles, heads a powerful amateur contingent that includes two former Open champions—Bill Van Aken of the host club and Clint Traver of Columbia. Other past amateur winners include William (Buzzy) Costello and Sig Makofski of Schenectady.

Witwyck's famed one-two punch of Leon Randall and Harvey Bostic will play, along with Eddie Byman, the 1968 New York State Jaycees champion. Bill Odeneal of New Paltz and Fred Lux Jr. of Dutchess are also highly rated.

WOODSTOCK—The hottest player on the Eastern New York Golf Association circuit scorched the Woodstock Country Club fairways with an all-time record Wednesday.

Charlie Murphy Jr., a Siena College graduate who plays out of Pine Haven, shaved two strokes off the course record with a blistering 9-under-par 61.

Rolling to his sixth victory of the season in the ENYGA, Murphy carded five birdies, two eagles and 11 pars to eclipse a record established by a touring PGA pro—Joe Zarhardt of Greensboro, N. C. in the 1930s. Murphy, who will be in the Woodstock Open Friday, narrowly missed four eagles and a fantastic "59." On the par-5, 473-yard fifth hole, he rimmed the cup on eagle putts from 8 and 4 feet.

Drives No. 8 Twice
Twice he drove the 295-yard, par-4, eighth hole. The first time around his booming tee shot landed eight feet from the cup and he rolled the putt in.

Basketball Game Set at Saugerties

In the opener, teams from the Jack Donohue summer camp will clash in the championship finals. The second game pits the professional staff of the camp against an all-star team.

Walt Isaacs, former Iona All-America, is on the staff. The public is invited, with no admission charge.

On his second swing around the picturesque nine-hole layout, Murphy just missed the green on his drive and chipped in from 30 feet for his eagle-2.

After matching par figures on the first four holes, Murphy launched his record breaking assault on par with a birdie-4 on No. 5 where he just missed his first eagle. The first eagle cropped up on No. 8 and he parred the 195-yard No. 9 to make the turn in 32.

The back-nine 29 which ties a record held by Armand and Jim Farina, started with a 15-foot birdie on No. 12 (3). He picked up his par on the No. 13 (4) 165-yard water hole, then proceeded to fuster three birdies and an eagle in the next four holes.

Murphy rallied from the near-miss eagle on No. 14 (5) for his birdie-4.

"That one really shook me up," he said later. "It was one of the easiest putts I had all day but I blew it."

Undaunted, the Albany State-bound collegian canned successive 10-footers for birdies on No. 15 and 16, then unloaded the big tee shot and chipped 30 feet for his second eagle of the day on No. 17 (8).

A routine par-3 on the demanding finishing hole rounded out the most fantastic round in Woodstock Country Club history.

Murphy, who was recently crowned the Eastern New York Golf Association champion at Stamford, has won six ENYGA events and tied for first in two others in 11 tournaments this season. He plays out of the Pinehaven Golf Club at Guiderlands, near Albany.

The long-hitting youngster won at Red Hook, Hoosick Falls, Berkshire Hills, Edison, Battenskill, before his Woodstock triumph. He tied for first at Rutland and Columbia. The long-hitting youngster plans to seek a Masters degree in Economics at Albany State University. He plays to a 1-handicap.

Has Six Stroke Lead

Murphy's blistering 61 gave him a six-stroke margin over his playing partner, Dick Sauer, also of Pinehaven, and George Cosenza of Witwyck Country Club, who turned in the finest performance of his ENYGA career.

The amateur course record of 63 is shared by four area amateurs and a Woodstock golfer in the pre-war period. Judson Phillips first set the mark in the 1930s.

George Hughes, perennial Twaalfskill champion, equalled the mark in the first Herdegen Memorial tournament in 1951. He missed a chance to break it when he exploded weakly from the No. 9 bunker on the last hole of 54-hole inaugural Herdegen tournament.

The "63" was later tied by stickout Ulster County amateurs

as Bill Van Aken and William (Buzzy) Costello, both of whom won the Woodstock Open and Eastern Amateur, along with who clinched his first Herdegen Memorial crown with the 63.

Major Confrontation

Murphy's phenomenal performance sets the stage for a dramatic confrontation between him and veteran Toby Lyons in Friday's Woodstock Open.

An even greater golf spectacle would have been in store for the fans, if Toby's son, Dennis Lyons, was in the field. The brilliant youngster, with back-to-back victories in the Connecticut and Westchester Opens, is in Virginia for the Ricky Barthel, of Twaalfskill Eastern Amateur, who won the 1967 Woodstock Open.

Lyons, one of the truly fine short game artists in the OGA ranks, is always the man to beat. But Murphy, riding the crest of his magnificent performance today, must be rated even favorite for the coveted crown which will be sought by a field of more than 60 of the best pros and amateurs in the Northeastern section.

Robinson's Batting Spurs Yankees Win

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Bill Robinson homered into the left field corner with one out in the fifth inning to ignite the New York Yankees to a 5-2 victory Wednesday night and a sweep of their three-game series with the California Angels.

Robinson, who left the game in the sixth inning with a strained hamstring muscle, also collected a single as the Yankees rang up seven hits against five Angel pitchers. Robinson scored two of the New York runs.

After Robinson's third homer of the season broke a scoreless tie between starting pitchers Stan Bahnsen of New York and Tom Murphy of California, Bob Cox and Horace Clarke singled. Cox scored when Bahnsen hit into a fielder's choice.

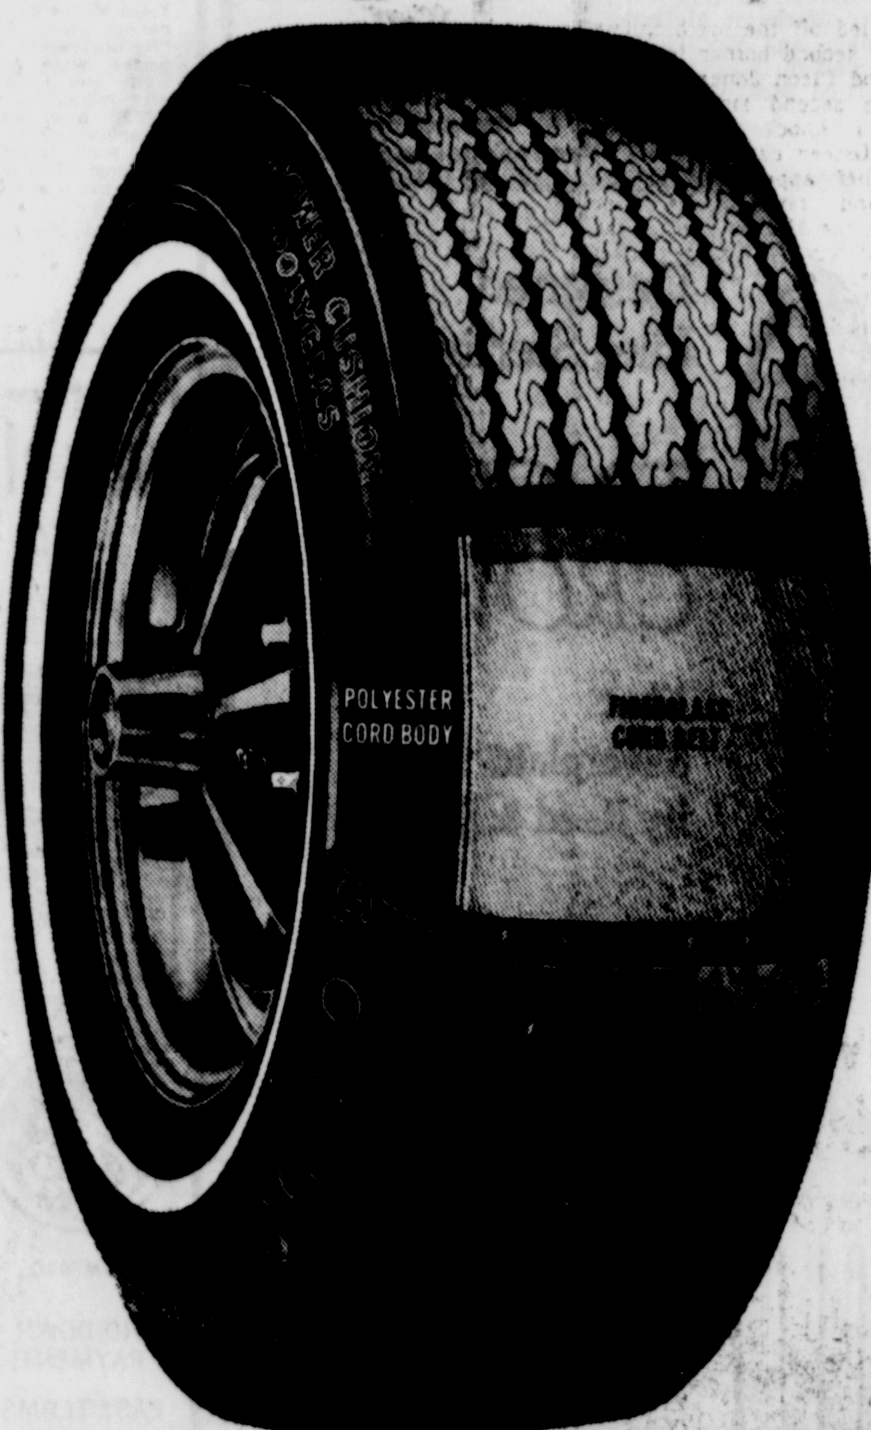

The Yankees made it 5-0 with three runs in the sixth inning. Mickey Mantle walked, moved to second on Roy White's infield out and came home on Joe Pepitone's single. Clarke drove in Pepitone and Robinson, who had walked, with a single.

Koosman Ties Mark With 16th Triumph

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rookie

Jerry Koosman chalked up his 16th victory—tying the club's season record—by scattering seven hits and Larry Stahl homered Wednesday night as the New York Mets topped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1.

Koosman, engaged in a duel with Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench for rookie of the year honors in the National League, boosted his record to 16-7, Tom Seaver set the Met victory record last year when he won 16 games.

Koosman lost his bid for a seventh shutout—which would have tied a rookie league record held by two pitchers including Grover Cleveland Alexander—when Paul Popovich homered in the fifth inning for the only Dodger run.

Dodger starter Bill Singer, knocked out in the sixth inning, took the loss and is now 9-12. The Mets snapped a 1-1 tie in the fifth. Kevin Collins and Phil Lind singled and with two out, Bud Harrelson grounded to first baseman Ken Boyer. When Harrelson beat Boyer's throw to Singer at first for a hit, Collins kept running from second and came in to score the tie-breaking run.

Title to Schrade—Walden

Schrade Walden clinched the Ellenville Softball league championship last night by trouncing Eddie's Country Fair 14-4. Once again the Schrade bats did the trick as Charlie Holmes had two homers, raising his total to eight and taking the lead in that department. Vern Darmstadter also homered along with Bob Lasher for Schrade. Percy Green hit the lone round tripper for Eddie's. Bob Lasher pitched Schrade to the win and is now 4-2 on

Go Away, O'Donoghue, Say the Columbus Jets

The Columbus Jets would be just as happy if the Baltimore Orioles had not demoted pitcher John O'Donoghue to their Rochester farm club in the International League. O'Donoghue has made two starts since he came down. Both were against Columbus. Both turned out to be Rochester shutouts.

The latest was Wednesday night as the Red Wings knocked off the Jets 3-0 and pulled back even with them for second place in the standings. Both are 5½ games back of front-running Toledo, beaten 3-2 by last-place Richmond for the second straight night.

Louisville's Colonels moved to within half a game of fourth place Syracuse by whipping the Chiefs 7-2. The Buffalo-Jacksonville game was rained out and a doubleheader scheduled for tonight.

In the 16 innings he's pitched against Columbus, O'Donoghue has shut out the Jets on 11 hits in 16 innings. He went the distance Wednesday night with a six-hitter.

Rochester scored its three runs in the sixth inning on Merv Rettenmund's double. Mike Fiore's single and Frank Peters' homer—the Red Wings' 30th roundtripper off Columbus Volvos last an average of 11 years in Sweden. They average about a day and a half in our showroom.

Exactly how long a Volvo will last in America, we don't guarantee. But we do know that over 95% of all the Volvos registered here in the last 11 years are still on the road. We also know that whenever we get Volvos in stock, they don't stay there very long. Which brings up an interesting paradox about Volvos. Our customers like to buy them because they last. We like to sell them because they don't.

League Standings

Won	Lost
Lions Club	4 2
Kingston Merchants	4 4
Rosendale Merchants	3 4
Donnie Vans	2 3

The Rosendale Merchants kept the Kingston City League's 9-5 last night by upsetting the night at Dietz stadium. The defeat put Kingston a game behind the league-leading Lions Club but made it still possible for any team to take the championship.

Leading the attack for the Rosendale team was Frank Corone with two singles while Jack Watzka had three hits for Kingston. Rick Sorenson and George Drutman also had two hits each for Kingston. Errors were the margin of difference though as Kingston out-hit Rosendale but made eight mistakes to offset their attack.

Rosendale wrapped the game up in the seventh scoring three runs as George Tomson singled, scored on errors, Chip Schoonmaker and Ed Mercier both reached base on errors and scored on Mike Patrick's single.

Kingston out-hit the winners, 10-7, but Rosendale capitalized on six walks and eight Kingston errors.

Greg Cappillino, the loser, struck out 14. Speirs, the Ulster County Community College southpaw, whiffed 10.

Koosman Ties Mark With 16th Triumph

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rookie Jerry Koosman chalked up his 16th victory—tying the club's season record—by scattering seven hits and Larry Stahl homered Wednesday night as the New York Mets topped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1.

Koosman, engaged in a duel with Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench for rookie of the year honors in the National League, boosted his record to 16-7. Tom Seaver set the Met victory record last year when he won 16 games.

Koosman lost his bid for a seventh shutout—which would have tied a rookie league record held by two pitchers including Grover Cleveland Alexander—when Paul Popovich homered in the fifth inning for the only Dodger run.

Dodger starter Bill Singer, knocked out in the sixth inning, took the loss and is now 9-12. The Mets snapped a 1-1 tie in the fifth. Kevin Collins and Phil Linz singled and with two out, Bud Harrelson grounded to first baseman Ken Boyer.

When Harrelson beat Boyer's throw to Singer at first for a hit, Collins kept running from second and came in to score the tie-breaking run.

Stahl led off the sixth inning with his second homer to make it 3-1 and Cleon Jones followed with his second single of the night to knock out Singer.

Claude Osteen came on for his first relief appearance of the year and retired the side although the Mets picked up an unearned run as a result of Zoilo Versalles' error.

The Mets' first run came in the second inning when J.C. Martin hit into a double play after Jones walked and Ed Kranepool singled him to third.

Exactly how long a Volvo will last in America, we don't guarantee. But we do know that over 95% of all the Volvos registered here in the last 11 years are still on the road. We also know that whenever we get Volvos in stock, they don't stay there very long. Which brings up an interesting paradox about Volvos. Our customers like to buy them because they last. We like to sell them because they don't.

Tavern Edges Scarselli's 1-0

SAUGERTIES — In an old fashioned pitcher's duel, Boo's Tavern squeaked by Scarselli's 1-0 in Saugerties softball action last night. The win put Boo's solidly into second place in the Met division.

The lone run was scored in the fifth when Joe Ferraro walked Barney Hoyt, who moved to second on a sacrifice, and to third on a wild pitch. Bill Peters followed with a line single off the pitcher's shins for the lone RBI.

With each pitcher giving up only four hits, Hoyt got the win and Joe Ferraro was tagged with the loss.

A temporary federal court restraining order, issued last week, has failed to halt the alleged slowdown, which is denied by the carmen's union leaders.

U.S. District Court Judge Orrin G. Judd, who issued the temporary order, concluded on Wednesday a hearing on the railroad's application for a permanent injunction barring a slowdown. Judd said he would try to issue his decision by Friday.

The agency last March reported the crew had appealed jointly to President Johnson to apologize to win their release. Since then, North Korea has broadcast scores of statements attributed to the crewmen admitting that the Pueblo violated North Korean waters.

The North Korean agency said today the 82 crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo have issued a second joint appeal for help to obtain their release.

The North Korean Central News Agency said the ship's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher of Lincoln, Neb., issued the appeal Tuesday at a news conference attended by 24 other crewmen.

The Pueblo's crew has been in captivity since Jan. 23, when the North Koreans seized the ship off Wonsan, a North Korean port. North Korea claimed the Pueblo violated its territorial waters and said the crew would be released after the United States apologizes and promises to guard against such incidents.

LIRR Boosts Cancellations to Record Number

NEW YORK (AP) — The Long Island Rail Road increased its morning rush hour train cancellations to a record 33 today, but the commuter line's management counted on quickly getting a federal court injunction to end its shortage of cars.

Today was the 10th day of cancellations that the railroad blames on a slowdown by workers who inspect and repair cars.

This morning's cancellations constituted more than one third of the number of trains that normally carry the Long Island's 90,000 daily commuters.

A temporary federal court restraining order, issued last week, has failed to halt the alleged slowdown, which is denied by the carmen's union leaders.

U.S. District Court Judge Orrin G. Judd, who issued the temporary order, concluded on Wednesday a hearing on the railroad's application for a permanent injunction barring a slowdown. Judd said he would try to issue his decision by Friday.

Prompter Is Feature Winner at Monticello

MONTICELLO—Traffic jams have caused many a person to pull his hair out, and the same could have been said for Charlie Norris, Jr. last night at Monticello Raceway when his filly, Oui Oui Bird, was caught up in a three-horse traffic jam in the stretch and couldn't get through to pass Prompter, who won the featured $1,000 pace for two-year-olds in 2:09.4. Prompter, owned by the Farmstead Acres of Glen Head and driven by Bill (Bones) Vaughan from the rail, copped the race by a half length after taking over the lead after the first quarter.

But it was Norris' filly, sent off at 4-5 odds, that went to the top first and held the lead in :31.4 at the quarter with Prompter betting number two, but post one due to the scratch of Jim Michael's two-horse entry of General Adios and T. R. streak and Jim Curran's Cafe Royale (6) outside.

Vaughan pushed his colt, by Torpid out of Darm Prompt by Darnley, to the front and lead to a 1:05.4 a half. He was still out front at the three-fourth pole in 1:37.2 with Gingerbread (4) second outside and Oui Oui Byrd locked in along the rail.

Coming home, Norris first pulled Oui Oui to the outside, hoping to get between Prompter and Gingerbread, Jim Grundy up, but that didn't work because no hole opened.

Norris, who earlier in the evening won a pair of two-year-old non-betting races, next tried to squeeze through on the rail, but Vaughan's charge blocked off that path and Oui Oui had to settle for second.

Prompter, the second choice at 2-1, returned $6.00, $3.20 and $2.60. Oui Oui was worth $2.80 and $2.20 for place while a show ticket on Gingerbread paid $2.60.

The daily double of Pay Boy and Precious Ann, the 2 and 4 hookups, had at $52.20 payoff.

Southside Club Holds Third 10-8

Southside Men's Club ended its season last night by defeating Ferroxcube 10-8 to take third place in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties softball league.

Gordon Freligh made his first start of the season and got batting support from his brother John who drove in three runs with a single, triple and homer. Errors dominated play however as only three runs were earned for each team.

Tonite at 6:30 p. m. Glasco again goes for a first place tie with Michael's as they oppose Statewide Upholstery.

Mixed Doubles Play Under Way

Two spirited matches marked the opening of mixed doubles competition in the Ulster County Tennis Tournament Wednesday night.

The No. 4 seeded team of Dick Little, Kingston and Tish Meyers of Hurley defeated Joe Hevesi, West Hurley, and Nancy Alexander, Kingston, 7-5, 6-1.

Bill Zeeh of Kingston and Daisy Beal of Hurley turned back Marshall Lipton and Kathy Kelly of Kingston, 8-6, 6-1, after pulling out a hotly contested first set.

The veteran Kingston tandem of Nick and Mary Fowler breezed past Bob and Jean Loneragan of Kingston, 6-1, 6-0. Pete Boyd meets Joe Scott in a men's third round singles match tonight.

Tish Meyers goes against Daisy Beal in second round women's singles. In mixed doubles, Kay and Bill Spangenberg face Ann and Dave Roberts in first round play.

All-Western Show For Junior Riders

Woodstock Riding Club plans its first all-western Junior Riding Day, Aug. 25 at the club grounds. The show is open to any rider under the age of 18.

Don Avallone, show chairman, reports a field of 21 classes and two championship classes. He also announced that a new class has been added which will be of great interest to riders and spectators as well.

Starting time is 10 a. m. and the public is invited. There is no admission charge.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME

Raymond Berry hasn't wasted any time impressing the Dallas Cowboys with his genius. The all-time leading pass catcher, retired after 13 seasons with Baltimore, stepped on the Cowboys' practice field in his new role as a coach, ran a couple of pass patterns to get the feel of football again, and said immediately, "There's something wrong with this field. It's too narrow." . . . The Cowboys, who've used it for years, humored him by putting a tape measure on both goal lines. It came out four yards short at one end, two-and-a-half yards shy on the other. . . .

Cowboys have put Bob Hayes, once world's fastest human, on fat man's table to pace his middle. Giants Homer Jones, who once beat him in a 100, should grab a seat alongside. . . .

Vince Lombardi was telling the Football Writers about the first time Red Blaik sent him out on a speaking assignment, when Vince was an assistant coach at Army, and the audience was all Army brass. In the middle of his talk, a three-star general down front interrupted, "How come you're playing this Ray Malavasi at guard?" Before Vince could answer, the general rasped, "I know—because he's Italian." . . . Vince could feel the bristles rise on the back of his neck. He face started to turn purple. He answered, "I'm not playing him because he's Italian. It's because I'm Italian." . . .

Cliff Battles, inducted into the Professional Football Hall of Fame as one of the great running backs of all time, retired at the peak of his game after only five seasons as a pro. He quit because George Marshall refused to give him a $500 raise after he led the Washington Redskins to an NFL title. The raise would have jumped his salary from $2,500 to $3,000! . . .

Fuzzy Thurston, who was retired (involuntarily) by the Green Bay Packers this season, is so peeved at his old bosses he wouldn't watch the Packers on television against the All-Stars. Because Fuzzy still thinks he has some football left in the old bones. And so do the Chicago Bears, who wanted to sign him. But Lombardi wouldn't give Thurston his release—insisted the Bears give the Packers a No. 2 round future draft choice if they wanted Fuzzy bad enough. They didn't. . . .

Bob Johnson, the top draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals, is a cinch to wind up as a captain of the new expansion team. He's been the captain of every football team he's ever played on, starting back in grade school and growing through the University of Tennessee and every All-Star game he played as a post-grad. . . .

There was a big private confab in Canton, O., between John Wooten and Commissioner Pete Rozelle, with the exiled guard of the Browns trying to convince the commish that his reputation as a troublemaker was a bad rap. Not a single team in either league called him after he drew his release from Cleveland over the racial hassle with Ross Fichtner. The meeting cleared the air, and assured Wooten he'd have grid employment. . . .

Between you'n'me, the only people who don't dig football in the Astrodome are those who do the playing. Claim the zippered surface gives under them when they try to cut. . . .

Prompter Is Feature Winner at Monticello

MONTICELLO—Traffic jams have caused many a person to pull his hair out, and the same could have been said for Charlie Norris, Jr. last night at Monticello Raceway when his filly, Oui Oui Bird, was caught up in a three-horse traffic jam in the stretch and couldn't get through to pass Prompter, who won the featured $1,000 pace for two-year-olds in 2:09.4.

Prompter, owned by the Farmstead Acres of Glen Head and driven by Bill (Bones) Vaughan from the rail, topped the race by a half length after taking over the lead after the first quarter.

But it was Norris' filly, sent off at 4-5 odds, that went to the top first and held the lead in :31.4 at the quarter with Prompter betting number two, but post one due to the scratch of Jim Michaels' two-horse entry of General Adios and T-streak and Jim Curran's Cafe Royale (6) outside.

Vaughan pushed his colt, by Torpid out of Darm Prompt by Darnley, to the front and lead to a 1:05.4 a half. He was still out front at the three-fourth pole in 1:37.2 with Gingerbread (4) second outside and Oui Oui Byrd locked in along the rail.

Coming home, Norris first pulled Oui Oui to the outside, hoping to get between Prompter and Gingerbread, Jim Grundy up, but that didn't work because no hole opened.

Norris, who earlier in the evening won a pair of two-year-old non-betting races, next tried to squeeze through on the rail, but Vaughan's charge blocked off that path and Oui Oui had to settle for second.

The daily double of Pay Boy and Precious Ann, the 2 and 4 hook-up, had at $52.20 payoff.

Secret Service Protection Goes to Spiro, McGovern

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The shifting cast of characters on the political stage has kept the Secret Service hopping in its new role as protector of presidential and vice presidential hopefuls.

There was a wholesale change of the guard, for instance, after last week's Republican National Convention and another will follow the upcoming Democratic convention.

Since they ended up in the GOP losers' column at Miami, Harold Stassen, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan no longer qualify for shielding by the Secret Service. The details of agents assigned to them have been withdrawn and dealt out to newcomers on the candidate list—GOP vice presidential nominee Spiro T. Agnew, for instance, and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, who blossomed over the weekend as a Democratic contender.

The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles while he was campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination in June was the event that added candidate protection to the chores of the Secret Service, traditional guardians of the president and vice president.

No Authority, But...
When he assigned the new role, President Johnson acknowledged he had no specific authority to do so. But Congress backed him up, quickly supplying a law extending Secret Service protection to "major candidates" for the presidency and vice presidency.

Some $2 million was voted to cover increased Secret Service expenses through the election. A spokesman for the agency said Tuesday it is not known yet whether this will be enough. The amount was picked by using data from past campaigns in which the president or vice president went on the campaign trail, he said.

The decision as to who gets the protection and who doesn't rests under the statute with the secretary of the Treasury, advised by a committee made up of the speaker of the House and the Republican and Democratic leaders in each chamber of Congress.

In the case of McGovern, a committee spokesman said, the two counts—as the vice president and as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination—were unanimous that McGovern fits the "major candidate" criterion. Agents joined rival for nomination; GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and his running mate Agnew, and American Independent Party candidate George Wallace.

Six Now Protected
McGovern brings the list of protected candidates to six, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who comes under the Secret Service umbrella on two counts—as the vice president and as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Also on the protected list are Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Humphrey's main rival for nomination; GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and his running mate Agnew, and American Independent Party candidate George Wallace.

At the GOP gathering in Miami Beach, he said, the ranks of Secret Service men were fleshed out with agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Customs, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Internal Revenue Service and military intelligence agencies such as the Air Force's Office of Special Investigation, the Office of Naval Investigation, and the Army's Criminal Investigation Division.

Dear Abby

Can She Recall Rumor?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish I were a Catholic. Then I could go to a priest and confess the terrible thing I did, and he would give me his blessings and I could sleep again.

I got mad at my girl friend and started a terrible rumor about her. I said she got pregnant and had an abortion. I had no idea it would spread the way it did until my own mother heard it and told me I couldn't go around with her anymore.

Now the girl refuses to go back to school in September because everybody in town is talking about her. And some girls won't even speak to her.

If I confessed to my mother, she'd tell me to keep my mouth shut because she wouldn't want anyone to know what a stinker I am. I want to make it up to this girl because she really isn't a bad girl. Could I run an ad in the newspaper and say I lied.

CAN'T SLEEP DEAR ABBY: Forget the ad, but do go to the girl and confess that you started the ugly rumors. And tell her you will also tell those who have unjustly ostracized her. You will never be able to undo the damage you've done, but I hope this will be a lesson to you.

DEAR ABBY: Why don't you throw your hat in the ring for President? I'll bet you'd get more votes than Wallace. I've been reading your column since way back and you make a lot of sense to me.

I notice you get lots of letters from widows and divorcees who can't corral the man they want. An old government trapper told me in Montana 40 years ago that if you use the right bait you can catch anything you're after.

WYOMING JACK DEAR JACK: KNOWING what bait to use is no trick. It's being able to COME UP with the bait you need when you need it that counts.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you 99 per cent of the time, but I couldn't go along with the advice you gave that father who told his 17-year-old son to either get a haircut or not to come home. (The boy didn't come home.) You told the father to forget the hair for now and to emphasize the more permanent aspects of his son's character. Tell me, Abby, how can a father mold his son's character if he can't make him mind?

As a law enforcement officer I have found that the biggest cause of juvenile delinquency is the inability of parents to get their children to mind.

I have a 19-year-old son who would wear his hair too long if he had his own way. I don't tell him to either get a haircut or not to come home, but I do tell him if he doesn't cut his hair, I will cut it for him if I have to do it while he's asleep.

Abby, if I didn't love my son I wouldn't care how long he grew his hair. I know all boys like to rebel a little, but when you put your foot down I think the average boy respects you for it. I know mine does.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding What's yours? For a personal CONCERNED's letter about her reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

LEON IN LUBBOCK (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a. m. WKNY-1490)

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars ("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 16, 1968.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Patience is your ally. Temptation is to act on impulse—overcome it. Study methods, procedures. Accents on dealings with relatives, visits. Call or message changes tempo of day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Accents on money, possessions. Profitable idea could come to light. Be willing to experiment. Keynote is gain. Be aware of assets, resources. Genuine bargain is available—look.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stress on how you look, your personality. Be direct, confident. Encourage new contacts. Fine for entertaining at home. You shine in familiar surroundings. Day for making special requests.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Much of what occurs today could be clouded in mystery. Means many actions are based on rumor. Not wise to commit yourself until complete story is available. Best to remain in background.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accents on social activity: be with those who share your interests. Be aware of your own worth. You may be asked to tackle special assignment. Be agreeable, but be sure to receive credit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Review ambitions. Know when to start, when to finish. Means sharpen sense of timing. Individual with authority takes a liking to you. Be alert to opportunity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with communication from one at a distance. Be open to chance for greater education. Enlarge horizons. Check summer study opportunities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Avoid overexertion. Stress moderation. Some around you Corp.

Bridge

That Hiding King Defeats Contract

By Oswald and James Jacoby

There is a mistaken belief that a great bridge player can know where all the cards are. The theory is that if he doesn't then he isn't an expert.

Quite often he will locate all the cards after a couple of plays, but at trick two he seldom knows more than a beginner would.

Here is another hand from the match between the Dallas Orange team and the California All-Stars to show this.

When the hand was shown on Bridge-O-Rama the audience noted that Dallas had bid four spades and gone down

Pass 2 N.T. Pass 3 ♠
Pass 4 ♠ Pass P.
Opening lead—♦ Q

The bidding was that shown in the box. South's opening was a weak two bid, showing a good six-card suit and a hand just too weak for a normal opening. Two no-trump was a forcing response and the three-heart bid showed something in that suit, whereupon North jumped to the spade game.

The commentators predicted that the bidding would be duplicated and the audience watched as the commentators' predictions materialized.

Dummy's king of diamonds accounted for the first trick and the 10 of spades was led. East played low. He could do nothing else and the audience watched while declarer studied his play. The audience could see that if South played the ace of trumps and another one and then guessed where the ace of clubs was, that he would make his contract.

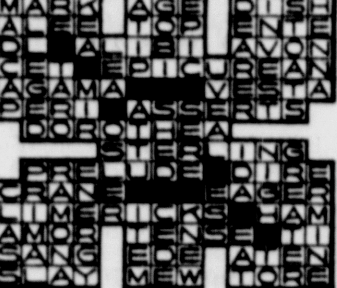

The commentators predicted that he would take the finesse. The explanation was that in this company East would not have covered the 10 with the King so that South could not know where the king was. Then, the percentage play had to be the finesse and experts are all percentage players. The 10 was allowed to ride. West took his king; led a second diamond for his partner to ruff and two aces left South down one for this, another tie board.

TV Season--Not Much New

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is little to choose from in next season's network television schedules for the viewer on the lookout for something new.

Off-beat, and almost daring, then, is the format of a series called "That's Life," which will combine situation comedy and musical comedy.

The series, sold to ABC as an idea and without a pilot program, is the brainchild of Marvin Marx, for the past 17 years on Jackie Gleason's writing staff.

Simple Gimmick
Marx, a comedy writer whose career dates back to the days of radio's Fred Allen show and The Burns and Allen show, has been occupied recently turning Gleason's old "Honeymooners" into musical comedy TV shows for the Great One.

But he insists he has been husbanding the "That's Life" idea for a decade, and thought of it originally as a vehicle for Mike Nichols and Elaine May.

The gimmick is simple. The series will start with a boy-meets-girl show, and follow along week-by-week with two principles through the courtship, marriage, first fight, move to suburbia and the arrival of the first child.

Presumably the themes could be extended indefinitely, since they are the most familiar themes for situation comedy. Where "That's Life" will be different will be in its use of song—three original numbers and three well-known hits of past years per show—and a bit of incidental, plot-moving dancing.

Robert Morse, an established musical comedy performer, will play the husband and a virtual unknown, E. J. (for Edna Jeanne) Peaker, will be the young wife. Emphasis in the show will be on guest stars like Shelley Berman and Sid Caesar, cast in roles that permit them to move logically into their specialties: Berman's choleric telephone calls or Caesar's mimicry.

Good Luck From Jackie
"It would be impossible to do a complete, new musical comedy each week on television," said Marx, "but I think that perfectly possible to handle it entertainingly each week where you have continuing, identifiable characters and a continuing story line."

How does Jackie Gleason feel about the project?
"Well," said Marx, "He wished me good luck."

If Marx' concept works, it could start a whole new trend in variety shows. If it drops by the wayside, it may be counted as a brave experiment in a year that is notable for sticking close to the tried and true.

OFFICE CAT

By JUNIUS "Red Mark Bag."

A little boy in New York for the first time entered a skyscraper elevator with his father and zoomed 30 stories in a breath-taking story. He grabbed his father's hand and asked timidly.

Little Johnny — Daddy, does God know we are coming?

Walking along a dark street a man was startled by a voice from the shadows that said:

Voice — Please, Sir — would you help out a poor unfortunate who is hungry and broke? All I have left in the world is this gun.

NONE FOR HIM
My new home has two bedrooms closets.

I figured to end storage woe. I did. One contains my wife's clothing.

The other her overflow.

—Fred W. Norman.

The Married Women's Act
Georgia was the first state to declare that married women should have full property rights (The Married Women's Act, 1866).

Doctor (to patient)
Madame, I find you are in a very serious condition. I wish that you would have your husband drop up to my office in the morning promptly at ten.

Patient — But doctor, I have no husband.

Doctor — Then I wish you'd send your lover up to see me.

Patient — I'm awfully sorry, Doctor, but I have no lover.

Doctor — Then if I were you, I'd pick out the best boy friend I had and send him up.

Patient — I can't Doctor, I have no boy friends. The fact is, I have never so much as had a date with or gone anywhere with a man in my entire life.

The doctor seemed considerably disturbed at this turn in events. He stroked his chin and walked over to the window. Here he stood gazing outward and upward, his arms folded and his chin cradled atop one folded hand. One minute passed! Then two! Three! Four! Then five! Still the doctor continued to gaze.

His patient became alarmed. Then hysterical. Finally she screamed—

Patient — Doctor! Tell me the worst! Why are you standing there gazing out that window?

The doctor turned, then presenting his very best professional manner, he said, Doctor — Don't be alarmed, lady. I was just looking to see if a bright star was shining in the East.

This concerns the husband who bought a size 10 negligee for his wife on their 25th wedding anniversary, but had to return it the very next day for a size 14. "I guess I was living in the past," he told the salesgirl.

Tourist — I've come here for the winter.

Californian — Well, you've come to the wrong place. There's no winter here.

To my way of thinking, the longest day in the year is the day you are expecting your landlord with a two months past due rent bill hanging over your head.

Little girl, home from Sunday School with an illustrated card in her hand was asked by father,

Mr. Smith (her father) — What is that, honey?

Little Sally — On, just an ad about heaven.

If your husband can read, don't send him to clean out the attic.

A producer recently imported an alien star.

Mr. Blank (to a friend) — She's a nice goil, and I'm gonna join her English.

TV Season--Not Much New

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is little to choose from in next season's network television schedules for the viewer on the lookout for something new.

Off-beat, and almost daring, then, is the format of a series called "That's Life," which will combine situation comedy and musical comedy.

The series, sold to ABC as an idea and without a pilot program, is the brainchild of Marvin Marx, for the past 17 years on Jackie Gleason's writing staff.

Simple Gimmick
Marx, a comedy writer whose career dates back to the days of radio's Fred Allen show and the Burns and Allen show, has been occupied recently turning Gleason's old "Honeymooners" show into musical comedy TV shows for the Great One.

But he insists he has been husbanding the "That's Life" idea for a decade, and thought of it originally as a vehicle for Mike Nichols and Elaine May.

The gimmick is simple. The series will start with a boy-meets-girl show, and to follow along week-by-week with two said Marx, "but I think that principles through the courtship, marriage, first fight, move to suburbia and the arrival of the first child.

Presumably the themes could be extended indefinitely, since they are the most familiar themes for situation comedy. Where "That's Life" will be different will be in its use of song—three original numbers and three well-known hits of past years per show—and a bit of incidental, plot-moving dancing.

Robert Morse, an established musical comedy performer, will play the husband and a virtual unknown, E. J. (for Edra Jeanne) Peaker, will be the young wife. Emphasis in the show will be on guest stars like Shelley Berman and Sid Caesar, cast in roles that permit them to move logically into their specialties: Berman's choleric telephone calls or Caesar's mimicry.

Good Luck From Jackie
"It would be impossible to do a complete, new musical comedy each week on television," said Marx, "but I think that perfectly possible to handle it entertainingly each week where you have continuing, identifiable characters and a continuing story line."

How does Jackie Gleason feel about the project?
"Well," said Marx, "He wished me good luck."

If Marx' concept works, it could start a whole new trend in variety shows. If it drops by the wayside, it may be counted as a brave experiment in a year that is notable for sticking close to the tried and true.

NEW HIGH BACKER — Wearing big smile, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey waves goodbye as he prepares to leave Harlem following visit to the community Wednesday. Robinson said he was supporting Humphrey "for what it's worth." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Sober, Massive Action:

Humphrey on U.S. Law, Order

Vice President Hubert Humphrey said today the law and order Americans are seeking cannot be achieved by "rhetoric or repression." He called instead for "sober, responsible and massive action" to curb the nation's rising crime rate.

In a speech prepared for delivery in Newark, N.J., scene of large scale racial disorders last summer, the vice president said fear of crime is as widespread in the nation's ghettos as it is in the suburbs.

"The residents of these poorer areas are as anxious as anyone else for better law enforcement—perhaps more so since the rate of crime in their neighborhoods is higher," said Humphrey.

Nixon Not Mentioned

Although the vice president never mentioned Richard M. Nixon by name, his speech sounded like a continuation of the Johnson administration's response to Nixon's acceptance speech at the Republican National Convention.

Humphrey told his audience today that they would hear a lot about the law and order issue "From others—who will try to use it to divide America." He said he agreed all Americans were entitled to personal safety.

The Vice President said state and local governments had lacked the money, trained manpower and technology to keep pace with increased criminal activity in recent years.

"Law enforcement agencies, private citizens themselves and federal authorities must step up their efforts to prevent crime in the years ahead," he added.

George S. McGovern — The South Dakota senator, latest candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he would accept "somewhat sadly" the second spot on the ticket if the convention delegates desired. Earlier, speaking in Philadelphia, McGovern said he was not interested in the vice presidential nomination. He also said he wanted to take part in any televised debates between Humphrey and the Vice President's chief rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

McCarthy — The Minnesota Democrat planned a campaign swing through New York today after resting up Wednesday in Washington, D.C.

Delegates — The latest UPI delegate tabulation showed Wednesday that with less than two weeks remaining before the Democratic national convention begins, Humphrey was only 255 votes away from the 1,312 needed to win the nomination. The Vice President's total was 1,056½ compared with 428 for McCarthy, 31 for McGovern and 16½ for George C. Wallace, the third party candidate and former governor of Alabama. Favorite sons held 516½ votes, including eight still pledged to President Johnson and nine to Sen. Robert Kennedy, and 578½ delegate votes remained uncommitted. All but 11½ of the 2,622 votes were accounted for.

Nixon — The GOP presidential candidate, in San Diego, continued his drive Wednesday to win support from influential liberal members of the party. He talked by telephone with and won promises of active support from Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky, and Govs. John Love of Colorado, Harold Levander of Minnesota and John Chaffee of Rhode Island.

New Storm Clouds for Dems

By HARRY KELLY

NEW YORK (AP) — New storm clouds gathered Thursday over the prospect for Democratic unity this fall despite Hubert H. Humphrey's holding out an "open convention" as an olive branch to party rebels and backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Although the vice president's chief strategist, Lawrence O'Brien contended that a "truly open convention" was the surest way to forge party unity, a McCarthy backer charged that few of the public would be permitted into the Chicago convention.

Allard Lowenstein, one of the original supporters of McCarthy, told a news conference that only 1,000 visitor's passes would be permitted for the convention, that state delegations would be separated by physical barriers and that major telephone facilities on the convention floor would be controlled from the rostrums by the convention chairman.

In addition the Coalition for an Open Convention sued Chicago officials in Chicago District Court, charging that the failure to permit a rally on the eve of the convention, Aug. 25, was having "a chilling effect" on the right of free speech and assembly.

As these developments were occurring Humphrey, the front-runner in the Democratic presidential contest, released a statement entitled "A Meaningful Convention and an Open Convention," coupled with a letter to National party Chairman John Bailey urging a streamlining to reduce "the frills and the nonsense" of the convention.

"In this crucial year," Humphrey said in the letter, "we have the opportunity to present to the American people a convention that is open, democratic and meaningful."

Among other matters, Humphrey urged that floor demonstrations be abolished; that the full text of the party platform be made public at least 24 hours before it is debated and that nominating speeches be limited to ten minutes. Humphrey did not mention direct public participation in the convention or any meetings on its periphery. O'Brien was asked in an interview whether there were any plans for any kind of forum for college students and other young people planning to visit Chicago to express their views on candidates and issues.

O'Brien said: "Well, I think this—there's a desire on the part of these responsible young people to have an opportunity to meet among themselves and discuss the issues and the candidates, to present views to the convention."

O'Brien said he thought this "should be encouraged."

The Coalition for an Open Convention, led by supporters of McCarthy, has sought since July 13 to obtain the Soldier Field, with a 100,000-plus seating capacity, for a rally on convention eve.

After the Chicago Park District declined to act on the request the group filed suit through the Illinois division of the American Civil Liberties Union.

There have been reports Democrats would use the huge stadium to celebrate President Johnson's birthday Aug. 27. There have been other reports the field would be used as a parking lot for convention officials or as a detention area for persons arrested during any demonstrations.

It started after King spoke to about 400 Negroes at a rally, called by the militant Black Unity League of Kentucky (BULK), to protest the bombing.

The disturbance subsided around midnight when a light rain shower began. Isolated incidents of rock and bottle throwing occurred early today but for the most part the area was quiet.

City police, helmeted and armed with three-foot riot sticks, patrolled today as calm returned to the predominantly Negro district.

National Guard units were alerted in the event of further outbreaks. Policemen were ordered on 12-hour shifts.

Police Chief C. J. Hyde said more than 600 Guardsmen could be deployed in the west end "in minutes."

The disorder was touched off by the bombing earlier Wednesday of a Negro church whose pastor is the Rev. A. D. Williams King, brother of the
